Hit By Tobacco, Broadcasting Firms

FCC Draws Fire In Step To Ban TV Cigarette Ads

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission's plan to sweep all cigarette advertising off radio and television—if it gets the authority—has drawn strong criticism from the tobacco and broadcasting industries, but was welcomed by the American Cancer Society.

FCC Chairman Rosel H. Hyde Wednesday announced the agency's 6 to 1 decision to issue a "notice of proposed rule making" as the first step toward the ban.

The FCC, however, can take no action before June 30, when a 1965 law forbidding new regulations is scheduled to expire.

The Tobacco Institute, the National Association of Broadcasters, tobacco-state congressmen and the one dissenting commissioner, James J. Wadsworth, criticized the action. The broadcast networks declined immediate comment.

In New York the cancer society—a long-time crusader against cigarette smoking—issued a statement welcoming the proposal and expressing hope

Nixon To Start 5-Nation Tour Of Europe Feb. 23

Says Agenda On Meetings 'Wide Open'

Declares It's Vital To See Allies First Before Soviet Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced today that he will begin a five-nation tour of Western Europe on February 23.

Nixon told a news conference —the second of his administration—that he would see the head of government in each state and the Pope as well as leaders of the NATO community.

He said the agenda for his meetings is wide open. He wants the trip to help "strengthen and revitalize" the Western alliance.

"I want to make clear this is only a first step," Nixon said.

"Before we have meetings with Soviet leaders," he declared, "it is vitally important that we have talks with allied leaders."

On Vietnam, Nixon said that "just as soon as" South Vietnamese readiness to take over more of the war, or the peace talks in Paris, or other developments, "make it possible" for some American troops to be relieved "they will be brought back."

Nixon will confer with Abassador Henry Cabot Lodge, the U.S. negotiator in Paris, but has no plans to talk with South Vietnamese representatives unless Lodge recommends that. He does not expect to see representatives of either the Viet Cong or North Vietnam now but added: "perhaps at some later time."

On another foreign policy front Nixon declared, in following up an announcement here Wednesday, that "there will be four-power talks at the United Nations" on the Middle East crisis after preliminary discussions are held there by four-power representatives.

What the United States is doing, he said, is "assuming the initiative" in several ways in support of the United Nations

Fake Sailors Pull Hoax On City Mother

Badgering of parents of area men in the service struck a new low in East Liverpool today when two men, dressed in Navy-type uniforms, told a mother of an unfounded report of her son's death.

Last week, a young man in an Army uniform pulled a similar hoax on the parents of a soldier, advising them the youth had been killed in Vietnam.

Representatives of the armed services warned parents and wives against accepting reports about servicemen unless substantiated by an authorized officer or enlisted man carrying official credentials from the Department of Defense.

The two young men in the latest hoax awakened a mother at her home at 2 a. m. today to report her son had been swept overboard from an aircraft carrier, and killed by sharks.

The two then walked out, saying details would be provided later.

Congress Pay Hiked, Along With Pension

Extensive Fringe Benefits Already Aid To Lawmakers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The congressional pay boost that goes into effect next week will provide a $42,500 yearly salary to Capitol Hill lawmakers already comforted by extensive fringe benefits ranging from liberal travel allowances to free haircuts for senators.

The only fringe benefit affected the change are pensions figured on length of service and a percentage of pay.

Since salaries are going up $12,500 a year, pensions under the voluntary Civil Service retirement plan automatically go up, too.

The House Rules Committee made certain Wednesday that the pay boosts, recommended by a special commission that suggested big hikes for other top federal officeholders, would take effect Feb. 14 while Congress is on a 10-day vacation.

The Rules Committee killed a resolution that would have forced a vote on whether the 41 percent raise should be accepted.

The committee tabled a veto proposal by vote of 12 to 3, acting a day after the Senate killed a similar resolution, 47 to 34. The dual action cleared the way

Gross Receipts Levy

Rhodes' Tax Plan Seen Facing Fight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes will be in for a long, hard fight in its attempt to get a modified gross receipts tax passed.

The proposed tax was made public about 4 p. m. Wednesday, long after the governor made his State of the State speech proposing $361 million in new educational programs.

By the time the tax to fund the program was made public by the Department of Finance, the governor was on his way to Washington D. C. to meet with Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

The tax would be levied only against merchants who sell items subject to the state sales tax and would not be levied against merchants whose gross annual income was less than $30,000.

The powerful Ohio Council of Retail Merchants has served notice that it is not about to allow the General Assembly to adopt such a tax.

"We are not going to have a gross receipts tax this session," George B. Hammond, the association's chief, said flatly at a mid-January news conference.

The association was successful in scrapping a gross receipts tax in the administration's education-tax bill two years ago.

It holds that a gross receipts tax would penalize retailers of goods in favor of retailers of services, does not take into account ability to pay, distributes the tax inequitably among retailers and would be repressive.

Hammond, reached at his home late Wednesday, would not comment on the tax. He said he had been out of town, hadn't seen the proposal, and knew only what he had heard on the radio.

Most legislators also heard about the tax through work of mouth.

Finance Director Howard Collier did appear briefly before the House Finance - Appropriations Committee to deliver cop-

Contract Let For Project On Lisbon St.

Youngstown Firm Will Do Work On Bid Of $311,060

The Ohio Highway Department Division 11 office at New Philadelphia said today the United Excavating Co. of Youngstown has been awarded a $311,060 contract for widening, resurfacing and easing the curves on a 1.6-mile stretch of Lisbon St. (Route 267) between W. 8th St. and the city limits.

The Mahoning County firm filed the lowest of three bids when the department opened offers Jan. 28 at Columbus. The state's estimate was $327,000.

Announcement of the award of the contract came as Mayor George E. Willshaw received a notice that the customary preconstruction conference will be held at the New Philadelphia office Friday, Feb. 14, at 10:30 a.m. The notice was signed by Lyman Mast, division construction engineer.

Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey, Engineer George S. Bloomgren and Water Supt. Harold Peterson will represent the municipality. Other affected utilities will be asked to send representatives to meet with the contractor's spokesman on the plans.

The Division 11 office said the scheduling of the pre-construction conference is an indication the contractor expects to start work shortly, possibly within 30 days. The contractor is expected to announce a date for the start of construction at the Feb. 14 meeting.

The city's share of the job is $45,000. It includes $20,000 which was furnished by county commissioners.

Postmasters Hail Step

Nixon Moves To Divorce Post Office From Politics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmasters across the nation hailed the Nixon administration's first move to divorce postal affairs from politics today. But there was some doubt the tradtional marriage will be broken up.

"Patronage was a possibility under the old system but in most cases it wasn't a problem," said Seattle Postmaster James Symbol.

"This is a good step, but it doesn't change much."

"It may give the postmaster general more latitude in selecting men who are real business managers. The Post Office Department needs real business managers," said Los Angeles Postmaster Lesle N. Shaw.

But, he added, "I am not sure just one changeover is going to correct the problem. In fact, I'm sure it isn't."

The remarks of Symbol and Shaw, a Negro postal-service career man who came up through the ranks, were typical of the reaction in a cross-country survey to the Nixon administraton's announcement Wednesday that henceforth all postmasters will be selected on merit.

In moving to wipe out a patronage tradition almost as old as the Republic, President Nixon said that usually the party in office does not want to give up the power to appoint postmasters and added "this is the time, I believe, to bite that bullet."

Just how much of a bite was taken was a little unclear.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said later that the immediate effect would be to withdraw 2,130 acting postmasterships and require the appointees to take new examinations for their jobs.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The first bills sent to the floor since the Ohio General Assembly convened Jan. 3 were released and recommended for approval Wednesday by two Senate committees.

The Education Committee approved a bill to provide protection for Ohio school children from communicable tuberculosis.

It would require schools to conduct annual examination of teachers and other school employes to determine if the disease is present.

It also would require annual test of all children who enter kindergarten or grade one, all students in a selected grade from seventh to tenth grade and all transfer students.

The Senate Judiciary Committee approved two bills concerning civil actions to recover damage incurred by a minors.

One bill would increase from $800 to $2,000 the amount which may be recovered from parents of children convicted of property damage and the other provides that $2,000 could be recovered from parents of children convicted of assault.

The committee also heard testimony from Sen. M. Morris Jackson D-21 Cleveland on his bill to give buyers 10 days to cancel agreements made with door-to-door salesmen.

"Salesmen come door-to-door and take advantage of the people in the ghettos," Jackson said. "They fast-talk them into signing contracts."

Jackson explained that the contract is then sold to a collection agency and many times the wages of an individual are garnished.

The General Assembly had one of its busiest days of the session Wednesday.

Gov. James A. Rhodes surprised many legislators with far - reaching proposals in his State of the State message, a new senator was sworn in and 20 bills were introduced.

Rhodes' proposals included a $357.1 million vocational-technical education program and the creation of an Ohio State Planning Office and a Department of Public Safety under his control.

Ohio's newest state senator, Robert J. Corts R - 13, Elyria, succeeded Sen. Harry V. Jump, named deputy director of the Ohio Department of Insurance.

Eleven bills were introduced in the Senate and nine in the House.

Senate Minority Leader Charles J. Carney D-33 Youngstown introduced a bill to provide a $1.50 an hour minimum wage in Ohio.

The bill would apply to everyone in private industry with the exception of domestic workers in private homes, federal employes, those subject to the federal Fair Labor Standards Act, outside salesmen working on commission, apprentices under age 18 and physically or mentally handicapped persons.

A bill, sponsored by five Democrats, would prohibit changes in student fees and charges at state universities without approval of the general assembly.

The Senate's majority whip, Michael J. Maloney R-7 Cincinnati, introduced a bill providing for the diversion of the excess collection of gasoline taxes to be used to pay off the 1964 highway bond issue.

In the House, George V. Voinovich R - 53 Cleveland introduced a bill to provide time and one-half overtime pay for state employes covered under federal laws.

Other House bills would:

—Eliminate indications of legitimacy and illegitimacy from birth records.

—Strengthen the Ohio financial responsibility law.

— Refund the motor vehicle fuel tax to transit bus operators with the exception of the one cent pledged to pay off Ohio's bonded indebtedness.

Other Senate bills would:

—Set state subsidies for local health districts.

—Authorize the establishment of county health authorities.

—Revise garnishment procedures in county courts.

—Require physical exams for police and fire applicants.

The Senate approved nine appointments of the governor. They included:

— Joseph W. Bartunek,: Shaker Heights, Cleveland State University Board of Trustees.

—John H. Dunlap Jr., Deer Creek Township, Pickaway County, Ohio State University Board of Trustees.

—Edward E. Davis Oak Hill, Ohio Board of Regents.

—Charles B. Stockstiel, Toledo, Toledo State College of Medicine Board of Trustees.

Junior Officers Of Pueblo Declare Support For Bucher

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — Junior officers from the USS Pueblo facing five admirals on a court of inquiry have declared support for their skipper. One said. "I'd follow him anywhere."

The statement came with determination from 21-year-old, freckle-faced Lt. j.g. Timothy Harris, one of three officers who testified Wednesday. He called Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher "an outstanding leader."

"I personally think Cmdr. Bucher is one of the finest officers I know—an outstanding skipper before and during the capture and certainly during detention," said Lt. Frederick Schumacher Jr.

"I don't think any of us could have made it through that eleven months in North Korean prison if it hadn't been for Cmdr. Bucher."

CWO Gene Howard Lacy said he agreed with Bucher's decision not to man the Pueblo's machine guns because "it would have been slaughter for anyone put out there."

"I am now going to ask you for your personal opinion," said Bucher's attorney, E. Miles Harvey. "Based on your experience and what you saw immediately prior to the time of capture, in your opinion did the commanding officer of the ship any longer have the power to resist the boarding and ultimate seizure?"

"No," said Lacy, 38, whose gray-streaked hair reflected his prison ordeal and an 11-year Navy career including duty in the Arctic. It contrasted sharply with Harris' boyish face and 25-year-old Schumacher's tow-headed mop.

Harris and Schumacher also supported the surrender decision.

Several members of the crew were summoned to testify today, including Quartermaster 1.C. Charles B. Law of Chehalis, Wash., who took home of the severest beatings during captivity.

2 Bomb Threats

Gov. Moore Explains Tax Plans At Public Hearing

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. made public for the first time Wednesday night that he intended raw materials purchases to continue tax-free under his proposal to suspend certain business and industry tax exemptions for a year.

The Governor said this was his intention from the start in submitting his tax program to the legislature.

Moore indicated he originally intended the continued consumers sales tax exemptions on raw materials used in manufacturing and other affected enterprises to be accomplished by administrative interpretation.

BUT Moore said the feasibility of the administrative approach has been questioned and, consequently, he has submitted an amendment to spell out the raw materials exemption in the appropriate tax bill.

Of his tax proposals and the rest of his legislative program, Moore declared:

"The people of West Virginia are on our side in this endeavor and make no mistake about it. . .it's fair and it's reasonable. It's necessary if we're going to get this state of ours moving."

The Republican Governor was the leadoff speaker at a three-hour public hearing on his tax bills held jointly by the Senate and House Finance Committees. Moore made a 33-minute statement, then spent another 15 minutes answering quesitons of House Finance Chairman Lewis N. McManus, D-Raleigh.

MOORE'S tax bills as originally introduced would:

Suspend for a year starting April 1 present consumers sales tax exemptions on goods and services used in manufacturing, contracting, natural resource production, transportation, transmission and communications.

Also suspend for a year corresponding exemptions under the use tax, which parallels the consumers sales tax but is levied on goods purchased outside the state for use in West Virginia.

Put into effect — without any cutoff — a new consumers sales tax exemption making purchase of physician - prescribed drugs tax-free.

Empower cities to impose local consumers sales and personal income taxes paralleling the state taxes.

The Governor revealed Wednesday night he has sent up another tax bill amendment which would extend the proposed drug exemption to prescriptions by dentists as well as physicians.

MOORE estimated at the hearing that suspending the sales tax exemptions a year would yield $38 million and the use tax measure would bring in another $3.2 million.

The revenue would go for financing the first year of the Moore legislative program. Biggest item is a proposed $1,000 pay raise for public school teachers, now estimated to cost $25.8 million.

Moore estimated manufacturing would bear $22 million of the cost of his tax package.

But a manufacturing spokesman said survey replies from 349 of the 1,600 manufacturers in the state showed the Moore proposals would cost these 349 firms alone $24.2 million—even with raw materials exempt.

A Diplomatic Opportunity

The suggestion has been cropping up repeatedly lately, and from various sources, that the United States should stop giving Red China the cold shoulder while playing footsie with the Soviet Union.

The point is made, and it seems a valid one, that both nations are Communist powers and both are on record, in no uncertain terms, as seeking the eventual destruction of Western democracy and particularly the United States, most powerful of the capitalist nations.

China has been more belligerent and more willing to use force to acquire her goals but Russia has attempted to achieve the same results by subversion and diplomacy.

AND YET OUR GOVERNMENT has seen fit to deal with the Russians while standing steadfast in opposition to any kind of meaningful recognition of Red China.

This double standard is now being restudied and the possibility exists that our policy with regard to Communist China may be changed by the Nixon administration.

The fallout between the two giant Communist powers has reached the stage now where they are each other's arch enemy instead of the United States being the No. 1 enemy of both.

Prior to his election to the presidency, Mr. Nixon hinted that he would employ some power politics in dealing with the Soviet Union, if he were elected.

Neither Red China nor Red Russia relishes the idea of the United States lining up on the side of the other. Both nations may well be willing to make some major diplomatic concessions to prevent this from happening.

If we can astutely use our diplomatic techniques to remain neutral, while compelling both Communist nations to yield on one point after another rather than drive us into the other's camp, we may accomplish much for the good of the world that we have not previously been able to do.

Perhaps that is what President Nixon has in mind.

HO CHI MINH, IN A WAY, set the pattern for this as he skillfully played Russia against Red China and received help for his cause from both. While he operated from a base of no strength, President Nixon would operate from a position of great strength. His "cards" would be much better.

The ever changing international situation has provided the United States with an unlooked for blessing in the form of the cleavage between Russia and Red China.

Why not play it for all it is worth?

Navy Taking Protective Steps

Without waiting for the formal USS Pueblo inquiry to be completed, the Navy is applying some lessons learned from the North Korean piracy to reduce chances for a repeat performance involving other spy ships.

Pentagon sources have disclosed that new scuttling devices are being placed on all 15 ships in the Navy's electronic spy fleet. It is reported the new equipment requires only "minutes" to complete its destruct mission.

ALSO ON THE additional equipment list are heavier ship armament, automatic devices to destroy classified gear and papers and a wide range of personal weapons for crewmen.

Intelligence mission procedures also have been altered as a further precaution. For the time being ships operating off the North Korean coast have been instructed to stay about 70 miles offshore.

Ships operating in other potentially dangerous waters, including those off the coast of China, have not been restricted but have been told to break radio silence and make contact with the nearest American commander as soon as they are spotted by potentially unfriendly forces.

Navy and Air Force commanders now are informed of intelligence missions before they take place and are under orders to make specific provision for rapid reaction in case of a call for help from a spy ship.

The USS Pueblo and its 83-man crew did not have the advantage of any of the above provisions.

The improvements announced by the Navy are the result of a study by Rear Adm. Leslie J. O'Brien who was assigned to the job of devising new policies and recommending new equipment to prevent spy ship piracies. He was given the task one week after the Pueblo was seized.

The rethinking of the whole naval intelligence system doesn't stop with the new regulations.

MELVIN R. LAIRD, secretary of defense, has ordered a high priority study of U.S. spy ship operations to see that "we will not have these incidents again."

Also on tap are hearings by the Senate Armed Services Committee. Ohio's Sen. Stephen M. Young, a member of the committee, said hearings will begin as soon as the current Navy inquiry is finished.

So the final chapter in the USS Pueblo story is yet to be written.

But it is already evident that a whole new era in intelligence operations is being ushered in with a concerted effort being made to prevent an accidental or careless launching of the next war.

Ralph E. McGill

The journalism profession mourns the passing of Ralph Emerson McGill.

The publisher of the Atlanta Constitution had won a Pulitzer Prize in 1958 for his editorial writing. The Pulitizer committee paid him the honor in recognition of his "long, courageous and effective editorial leadership."

The product of a rural Tennessee background Mr. McGill started his newspaper career as a sports writer and reporter in 1922.

He joined the Constitution in 1929 as sports editor and became executive editor in 1938 and editor in 1942.

He used the Constitution's editorial page to support civil rights and cry out against Ku Klux Klan-type activity against Negroes.

The outspoken editorialist crusaded in behalf of freedom of equality for all men.

In 1964, four years after he was named publisher, Mr. McGill received the Medal of Freedom from President Johnson. The award was a tributed to what was described as Mr. McGill's dedication to making "man's world safe, his physical body more durable, his mind broader and his dignity important."

Reporter, editor, publisher McGill will be remembered because he gave his best to his profession.

Here's Mud In Your Eye

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — "Commander, we've got a wonderful assignment for you."

"Yes, sir. What is it?"

"The Navy wants you to take command of a ship, sail it up the Yangtze River and take mud samples and depth readings of the river bed. We'll give you the latest top-secret equipment for the job."

Art Buchwald

"That's great, sir. What kind of ship will I have to do this with?"

"We're converting a sardine trawler into a man-of-war. It will be a top-class ship that anyone would be proud to command."

"WHAT KIND OF GUNS will she have, admiral?"

"What do you mean, guns?"

"If I'm sailing up the Yangtze, shouldn't I have some guns on the ship in case anybody wanted to attack me?"

"Why would anyone want to attack you?"

"No reason that I can think of. I just thought if it was a Navy ship it should have some guns on it."

"The Navy doesn't have guns to spare for every ship in the fleet. Besides, it might look provocative if you were carrying all that secret equipment and guns, too."

"But suppose I'm attacked?"

"WHY WOULD ANYONE want to attack you? After all, you're only loking for mud samples. Look, commander, if you don't want the assignment, we can always find somebody else."

"Oh, I want the assignment, sir. I just wanted to be clear as to what I was to do."

"Well, we've got the whole thing worked out. You sail up to Shanghai from Formosa, make a sharp left and head straight for Nanking."

"That's the entire plan?"

"Why, what else do you have to know?"

"I'm not trying to make waves, admiral, but there could be some resistance on the part of the Chinese to my sailing up the Yangtze, even if it's for mud samples."

"The Chinese would never dare attack a U.S. naval vessel. If they did, they know we'd retaliate immediately."

"That brings me to another question, sir. In case I am challenged, will I get aid from any naval vessels?"

"Of course. The Sixth Fleet will be available to give you full protection."

"But the Sixth Fleet is stationed in the Mediterranean."

"I know where the Sixth Fleet is stationed. We can't give you cover from the Seventh Fleet because they're involved in Vietnam; the Pacific Fleet at Pearl Harbor will be on maneuvers. So the only ones available for contingency are ships from the Mediterranean Fleet. You may have to hold off your attackers until they get there."

"With what, sir?"

"We're issuing all the officers sabers, and the enlisted men will have cutlasses."

"That's different then, sir. I thought we were going in unarmed."

"If anything happens, commander, all you have to do is give me a ting-a-ling and we'll be there."

"IT'S GOOD TO KNOW I can count on you, admiral. Sir, I know this is probably a stupid question but is there any way I can scuttle the ship in case you can't get to me in time?"

"Why would you want to scuttle a good Navy ship?"

"So they wouldn't get all the secret mud-sampling equipment on board."

"Let's cross that bridge when we come to it. The next thing you'll be asking me is what are you supposed to do if you're captured. Ho, ho, ho; ha, ha, ha; ho, ho. That would be a good one, wouldn't it?

"Commander, you're not laughing."

'Is This The Miami Plane?' 'Si, Senor!'

VICTOR RIESEL

Reuther Stumping For Ted

WASHINGTON — Walter Reuther is swinging. The redhead doesn't smoke and doesn't drink but he's highballing around the circuit, whipping himself into a one-man political and sociological conglomerate.

He's a flexible political flier when fully turned on.

Some Mondays ago he had a long poltical breakfast with Hubert Humphrey at New York's Waldorf Astoria. Some days later he threw a posh cocktail party for Ted Kennedy.

Victor Riesel

Somewhere in betwixt, the auto union chief opened a pipeline with the White House by way of his old CIO colleague, former steel union president, silver-haired Dave McDonald, who campaigned for Richard Nixon.

In his spare time he's helping his intimate friend Jack T. Conway launch the $3.5 million (Ford money) Center for Community Change.

What the trim 61-year-old auto union veteran has not been able to swing is his heavily publicized Alliance for Labor Action (ALA), which was to have burned up the labor front with a wide attack by the combined forces of his 1.6 million-member union, and the 2.1 million-member International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

APPARENTLY THE TRUCK DRIVERS cooled on the new "marriage" (as Teamsters acting president Frank Fitzsimmons called it in a rare poetical mood) and strolled off during the honeymoon. There was to have been a national ALA convention in January to launch the new labor federation, or alliance, but though Mr. Reuther talked to leaders of unions ranging from hospital workers to woodworkers, the tribe did not increase.

And so the auto union leader diversified. While going political, his most gay moments came during the special cocktail reception he threw in the Washington Hilton Racket Club just before the Kennedy fund-raising banquet Wednesday, Jan. 22. For this gathering he brought in his entire high command.

It all was up to date in the Racket Club. There was a beard or two among the auto leaders—many of whom had fought alongside the tragic Bob Kennedy in Illinois, Indiana, Oregon and California, where west coast director Paul Schrade has the union's most sophisticated and effective political machine.

TED KENNEDY CAME EARLY, talked confidentially with Victor and Walter Reuther for a bit, then mixed with the crowd before going on down to the more massive public pre-dinner hour-and-forty-minute reception.

Also with the Reuthers was Kenny O'Donnell, a close friend of Conway, president of the new community center umbrella organization which soon will operate in scores of cities.

Among the 55 UAW leaders, there was considerable serious talk of Sen. Kennedy for president in '72. As one of the happy crowd put it, "we are all 1,000 percenters for Ted."

They are realists. They know that next week is far off—and the next presidential election is eons away. But they also believe that "perhaps Bobby played it too cautiously, and there might not have been a McCarthy if Bob had moved out front first, as Ted is. . . ."

THEN ALL WENT DOWN to dinner and it was like old times in '60, but with no Lyndon Johnson and no Gene McCarthy.

After speeches and dessert, the $500 ticket holders piled into buses for a smaller gala at the senator's home in McLean, Va. So Walter Reuther and some of his people went too, and soon were mixing it up with the old crowd. It wasn't poolside weather, so they talked and danced and sipped a drink or two around the fireplaces.

There were other labor leaders—but not George Meany, nor the policy makers of the huge AFL-CIO. They're moving more cautiously. They're fond of the young senator, but not dedicated nor pledged, as Walter Reuther appears to be.

The federation chief is concentrating more on a 1970 counterthrust against the Republicans and especially against Senator McCarthy. This they can effect by helping to elect Hubert Humphrey to the Senate with an overwhelming majority in '70.

Plans for this counterattack will start formulating behind closed doors at the AFL-CIO's executive council midwinter sessions in Bal Harbour, Fla.

These fellows don't swing so much. They don't have to build a conglomerate. They already are one—and seem to have outmaneuvered Walter Reuther on at least one front—labor.

But the redhead is never one to stop swinging.

Two Kinds Of Highjacking

Two kinds of hijacking would appear to require not merely state action but the enactment of laws by Congress — the coercion of airline pilots as they are directed to divert planes from their regular destinations and the seizure of administration buildings and other facilities on college campuses by students and other persons.

The power of the federal government to punish anyone who interferes with interstate commerce is well defined. Under a 1961 law, hijackers can be punished for imperiling the lives of passengers and crews on airplanes, and be imprisoned 20 years or more or be given the death sentence.

ALTHOUGH BIG REWARDS are being offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of hijackers of planes, this might not prove an adequate deterrent. Last year, 18 United States planes were compelled to go to Havana and so far this year there have been 12 — more than two a week.

The airlines themselves could request that armed guards, not in uniform, be supplied by federal security agencies to travel on the airliners destined for points along the South Atlantic Coast — the routes on which most of the hijackings have occurred.

These guards need not be identified to the other passengers. Also, before anyone boards the plane, the local police could be required to search the group of travelers for weapons, and particularly examine any package carried by hand.

The problem of obtaining the return of hijackers from Cuba or other countries is being discussed in Congress. Suggestions are being made that efforts be undertaken through diplomatic channels to induce the Cuban government to send hijackers back to the United States.

Rep. Claude Pepper, Democrat, of Florida, is proposing that an international convention be signed to seek agreement between nations for the return of hijackers.

Thus far, with the exception of one or two persons, the Cuban government has not returned any of the hijackers, although the planes and other passengers have been permitted to go back to Miami.

The United States government does not recognize the Cuban government but maintains a diplomatic liaison through the Swiss embassy in Havana. No information has been revealed as to what progress has been made toward reaching an agreement for the return of the hijackers.

As for the hijackers on college campuses, it is apparent that the college authorites are reluctant to bring in the police and are trying to deal with dissenting students and faculty members by patient negotiation. The simple fact is that, whenever college buildings are seized, an illegal act has been committed because there has been an interruption of the educational process.

Both the federal government and the states render assistance to educational institutions and have a duty to protect the lives and property of students and faculty in the college or university. A law declaring that disturbing the operations of a college is a federal crime would be constitutional because these disorders are a flagrant interference with the rights of the faculty and students to be free from threats and any form of violence.

Some of the militants frankly confess that it is their intention to destroy the structure of the colleges and to do so by force.

THE ACTING PRESIDENT of San Francisco State College told a congressional committee this week that about 300 of the 18,000 students at his college have participated in the rioting which has swept the campus for more than two months. He said, too, that only about 100 of the 900 Negro students have been involved in the disorders. He added

"The bravest young people on our campus are the nonviolent, young, black students who keep on attending classes at the risk of physical attack from black militants."

This makes it clear that there are revolutionaires on the college campuses who create disorders and that Congress has a duty to enact legislation which will prescribe specific penalties, including long-term prison sentences, for those who, by violence, interrupt the workings of American colleges.

THEN ALL WENT DOWN to dinner and it was like old times in '60, but with no Lyndon Johnson and no Gene McCarthy.

After speeches and dessert, the $500 ticket holders piled into buses for a smaller gala at the senator's home in McLean, Va. So Walter Reuther and some of his people went too, and soon were mixing it up with the old crowd. It wasn't poolside weather, so they talked and danced and sipped a drink or two around the fireplaces.

There were other labor leaders—but not George Meany, nor the policy makers of the huge AFL-CIO. They're moving more cautiously. They're fond of the young senator, but not dedicated nor pledged, as Walter Reuther appears to be.

The federation chief is concentrating more on a 1970 counterthrust against the Republicans and especially against Senator McCarthy. This they can effect by helping to elect Hubert Humphrey to the Senate with an overwhelming majority in '70.

Plans for this counterattack will start formulating behind closed doors at the AFL-CIO's executive council midwinter sessions in Bal Harbour, Fla.

These fellows don't swing so much. They don't have to build a conglomerate. They already are one—and seem to have outmaneuvered Walter Reuther on at least one front—labor.

But the redhead is never one to stop swinging.

Two Kinds Of Highjacking

Two kinds of hijacking would appear to require not merely state action but the enactment of laws by Congress — the coercion of airline pilots as they are directed to divert planes from their regular destinations and the seizure of administration buildings and other facilities on college campuses by students and other persons.

The power of the federal government to punish anyone who interferes with interstate commerce is well defined. Under a 1961 law, hijackers can be punished for imperiling the lives of passengers and crews on airplanes, and be imprisoned 20 years or more or be given the death sentence.

ALTHOUGH BIG REWARDS are being offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of hijackers of planes, this might not prove an adequate deterrent. Last year, 18 United States planes were compelled to go to Havana and so far this year there have been 12 — more than two a week.

The airlines themselves could request that armed guards, not in uniform, be supplied by federal security agencies to travel on the airliners destined for points along the South Atlantic Coast — the routes on which most of the hijackings have occurred.

These guards need not be identified to the other passengers. Also, before anyone boards the plane, the local police could be required to search the group of travelers for weapons, and particularly examine any package carried by hand.

The problem of obtaining the return of hijackers from Cuba or other countries is being discussed in Congress. Suggestions are being made that efforts be undertaken through diplomatic channels to induce the Cuban government to send hijackers back to the United States.

Rep. Claude Pepper, Democrat, of Florida, is proposing that an international convention be signed to seek agreement between nations for the return of hijackers.

Thus far, with the exception of one or two persons, the Cuban government has not returned any of the hijackers, although the planes and other passengers have been permitted to go back to Miami.

The United States government does not recognize the Cuban government but maintains a diplomatic liaison through the Swiss embassy in Havana. No information has been revealed as to what progress has been made toward reaching an agreement for the return of the hijackers.

As for the hijackers on college campuses, it is apparent that the college authorites are reluctant to bring in the police and are trying to deal with dissenting students and faculty members by patient negotiation. The simple fact is that, whenever college buildings are seized, an illegal act has been committed because there has been an interruption of the educational process.

Both the federal government and the states render assistance to educational institutions and have a duty to protect the lives and property of students and faculty in the college or university. A law declaring that disturbing the operations of a college is a federal crime would be constitutional because these disorders are a flagrant interference with the rights of the faculty and students to be free from threats and any form of violence.

Some of the militants frankly confess that it is their intention to destroy the structure of the colleges and to do so by force.

THE ACTING PRESIDENT of San Francisco State College told a congressional committee this week that about 300 of the 18,000 students at his college have participated in the rioting which has swept the campus for more than two months. He said, too, that only about 100 of the 900 Negro students have been involved in the disorders. He added

"The bravest young people on our campus are the nonviolent, young, black students who keep on attending classes at the risk of physical attack from black militants."

This makes it clear that there are revolutionaires on the college campuses who create disorders and that Congress has a duty to enact legislation which will prescribe specific penalties, including long-term prison sentences, for those who, by violence, interrupt the workings of American colleges.

For May Primary

112 Candidates Listed In County

The County Election Board counted a total of 112 candidates for posts in seven cities and villages as filings ended Wednesday afternoon for the May 6 primaries.

Twenty-three were so - called "11th-hour" aspirants, entering in the last four or five hours before the 4 p. m. deadline. In addition, the board listed two Independent candidates — one each in East Liverpool and Leetonia. They are required by law to meet the same filing deadline as primary candidates, but skip the May voting and advance to the general election in November.

The General Assembly changed the Independents' filing deadline a few years ago to prevent a candidate defeated in the primary from entering again for the general election as an Independent.

THE ELECTION Board will meet Friday at 2 p.m. in its office on W. 6th St. to rule on the validity of the petitions. Those whose petitions are found proper will be granted ballot places. The board also expects to award a contract for printing ballots for the primaries.

Primaries were due in East Liverpool, East Palestine, Salem and Wellsville cities and Columbiana, Leetonia and Lisbon villages. But because of the Ohio "no contest" law, only East Liverpool and Columbiana will have both Republican and Democratic primaries.

Leetonia and Lisbon will skip the primaries entirely, as neither has a contest in either party. East Palestine will have only a Republican primary. And only Democrats will vote in Salem and Wellsville. Unopposed candidates automatically are issued certificates of nomination in the communities skipping the primaries. They advance to the November general election.

A NOTE to Columbiana County residents looking forward to voting for their favorite candidate for mayor in 1969 Don't bother; he won't be running!

It's the first time in history there has not been mayoralty contests in the municipalities to enliven the off-year voting.

Cities and villages elected their mayors in 1967 for four-year terms, acting under a new state law. That means the mayors need not run again until 1971.

Solicitors also were placed in four-year terms under the new law. City auditors previously had enjoyed the four - year terms.

The next filing deadline will fall in August. It will affect candidates in all townships and school districts and candidates for seats in six villages under 2,000 population — Rogers, Washingtonville, Hanoverton, New Waterford, Salineville and Summitville.

All run on nonpartisan slates, advancing from the August filing deadline direct to the general election.

GOP Treasurer Contest Lone Race At Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — A Republican contest for city treasurer will mark the only race in the primary here May 6, according to final filings with the Columbiana County Board of Elections Wednesday at East Liverpool.

City Democrats will hold no election, having only two Council candidates and one for treasurer.

Mrs. Eula Springer, appointed treasurer after the death of longtime officeholder Charles W. Gandy last year, will be opposed by Kersey McCloskey of W. North Ave., a New Waterford bank teller and member of the board of education, in the GOP race.

William J. Paes Jr. of 133 W. Martin St., supervisor of accounting at the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., will be the Democratic candidate for the treasurer post in November.

Other Democrat candidates in this generally Republican community are Byron D. Cope for First Ward Council and Wilbur J. Spaite Sr. for Second Ward Council. Cope, of 361 E. Clark St., is a foreman at the Franklin Furniture Co. in Columbiana and Spaite, of 50 N. Market St., is a grocer and president of the Democrat Club.

Frank Early, incumbent president of Council, heads the GOP ticket.

Elbert L. Seagle of 505 Grant St. is seeking re-election to the First Ward Council seat. He is a supervisor clerk at the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co.

Incumbent Second Ward Councilman Halsey (Bud) Allard of 709 E. Main St. is a sales official with the Adamson Manufacturing Co.

James H. Lynch of Carbon Hill Rd., an employe of the Franklin Furniture Co., filed for the Third Ward post now held by Paul McCauley, who did not seek re-election. Lynch is a former Councilman.

Ray Humphreys of Grandview Ave., a mortician, filed for Fourth Ward Councilman, seeking to replace Robert Berresford, GOP incumbent, who filed for nomination as Councilman-at-Large. Russel Patton, incumbent Councilman-at-Large, did not file for re - election.

Other GOP at large candidates are incumbents Paul J. Adams, an oil distributor, and Wayne McCauley, foreman for the Penn Central Railroad.

Here's a complete list of the candidates:

COLUMBIANA — Both Republicans and Democrats will settle Council races here in the May 6 primaries.

There are no contests for the other two offices — treasurer and one seat on the Board of Trustees of Public Affairs.

A party primary is a rarity in the village, which frequently skipped the May voting under the Ohio "no contest" law.

Here's a complete list of the candidates:

Shaw's Defense Asks Protection For One Witness

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The defense has asked for a guarantee of court protection for a reluctant witness in the trial of Clay L. Shaw on a charge of conspiring to assassinate President John F. Kennedy.

Chief defense Lawyer F. Irvin Dymond said Mrs. Harold McMaines, 24, of Des Moines, Iowa, was important to his case but was in hiding to avoid a subpoena.

Criminal District Court Judge Edward A. Haggerty Jr., set as the first order of business today a hearing on Dymond's motion for a court guarantee of protection for Mrs. McMaines.

After that arguments will begin. The jury of 12 men and two alternates was completed Wednesday for Shaw's trial. The impaneling took 14 days.

Dymond said Mrs. McMaines, a former girl friend of a key prosecution witness, refuses to come here to testify.

Plans Are Advanced For Summitville Fete

SUMMITVILLE — Plans for the homecoming June 19-21 were discussed when Franklin Township fire department trustees met at the hall Wednesday night.

Bills totaling $191 were paid.

Crayfish in Madagascar may grow to a length of 10 inches.

Salem Has Lone Race On Democratic Ticket

SALEM — Salem Republicans will skip the May 6 primaries entirely for lack of contests and Democrats will settle a lone race—a four-man contest for nomination of three for councilmen-at-large.

The GOP candidates will get a "free ride" into the general election under Ohio's no contest law. The Republican slate is complete except for Second Ward councilman.

Salem will have a citywide election, despite the lack of a GOP primary. It is scheduled to vote on a half - mill municipal levy for park and recreation purposes. The levy vote actually is a special election held on the same date as the primary. Persons not participating in the Democratic primary will be able to obtain a ballot only on the special issue.

In addition to the five-way race for the at-large nomination, Democrats have a full slate with the exception of the First Ward Council post.

Here's a complete list of candidates:

Lisbon Candidates To Get 'Free Ride' To November

LISBON — There will be no party primaries in Lisbon May 6 for lack of contests for four places on Council and one on the Board Of Trustees of Public Affairs.

At filing deadline Wednesday afternoon, there were four Republican and three Democratic candidates for Council and one GOP candidate for the Board of Public Affairs. All will be advanced automatically by the Board of Elections to the November general election.

Williamson, a former Minerva resident who purchased the welding business four years ago, has not sought public office previously.

Council incumbents seeking new terms are Larry O. Evans, 29, of 518 W. Lincoln Way, an abstracter for the McMillan Abstract Co. at the Courthouse, and Charles R. Webber, 47, of 916 N.Market St., owner of the Webber Plumbing and Heating Co.

Liquor Agents To Be Arraigned

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Three suspended state liquor agents indicted in a bribery investigation are free on bond awaiting arraignment Feb. 14.

The agents and Booker Brooks Sr. 63, Akron, a former tavern operator, were indicted secretly by the county grand jury Tuesday. Brooks turned himself in to Barbuto's office later Wednesday and also was released on bond. He also faces arraignment Feb. 14.

The agents were accused of taking $50 a month from two Akron area tavern owners in return for protection against prosecution under state liquor control statutes.

SALEM — Salem Republicans will skip the May 6 primaries entirely for lack of contests and Democrats will settle a lone race—a four-man contest for nomination of three for councilmen-at-large.

The GOP candidates will get a "free ride" into the general election under Ohio's no contest law. The Republican slate is complete except for Second Ward councilman.

Salem will have a citywide election, despite the lack of a GOP primary. It is scheduled to vote on a half - mill municipal levy for park and recreation purposes. The levy vote actually is a special election held on the same date as the primary. Persons not participating in the Democratic primary will be able to obtain a ballot only on the special issue.

It is the first pay hike for members of Congress since a $7,500 boost—from $22,500 to $30,000—was voted in 1964. It is the first raise in history on which there was not a direct vote, a departure made possible by a 1967 law.

Under current salary scales, the congressional pension ceiling has been $24,000 after 32 years service. This will go up to $34,000 five years from now because of the new raise. Congressmen are required to pay 7½ per cent of their monthly pay if they join the pension program.

Some of the other fringe benefits that add to congressional comforts are:

—A $3,000 income tax deduction for living expenses. A pending bill would raise this to $5,500.

—A $3,000 annual allowance intended for purchases of stationery in cutrate Capitol stores. Members may draw this in cash and spend it for any purpose or pocket it.

—Travel expenses for at least seven round trips per year back home, plus two such trips for designated employes. This is in addtion to one round trip per session at a cost of 20 cents per mile.

—Free mailing privileges for official correspondence, plus a varying allowance—now $700 per year for House members—for air mail and special delvery stamps.

—Free telephone and telegraph service for official business which could run as high as 70,000 words of telegrams or cablegrams or almost 300 hours of long-distance phoning per year. This is in addition to unlimited long-distance service on leased government lines during limited hours on week-days and all day Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

—$3,600 a year for office expenses outside of Washington and free office space or annual rental allowances of $2,400 per year for two offices back home for House members. This varies for senators.

—Clerk hire allowances which vary for senators and representatives depending on the size of the state or district. The average House member may hire 11 employes and pay not more than one of them $24,439 per year. Senators are allowed more employes.

—Members may participate in group life insurance and health programs similar to many programs in private business. They contribute to the cost of the programs.

There are other benefits not spelled out in detail. These include world travel on official business, free haircuts for senators and cut rate haircuts (75 cents) for representatives and subsidized restaurants for members employes.

Nixon

efforts to achieve Middle East peace settlement.

Nixon was asked whether there has been any lessening of the nuclear threat from Red China.

He said that the ABM, or "thin" ballistic missile defense system, was not designed only against a threat from Red China, but as a part of over-all defenses. He said he does not see any change in the Chinese threat, but that all aspects of defense are being considered.

Nixon said there has been no progress on arms control talks with the Soviet Union but the talks would be emphasized.

Nixon was asked about the proposed rule of the Federal Communications Commission against the radio-TV advertising of cigarettes.

"As a nonsmoker, it wouldn't pose any problems to me," Nixon replied. He said, however, the ruling has just been brought to his attention and he hadn't had time to study it.

Asked how he felt about Johnson administration tax proposals for the poor, Nixon said tax reform has been a matter of discussions, which have been widely publicized.

"We went over the agenda and timetable on when it (his proposal) should come down," he said, adding that the secretary of treasury would make a preliminary announcement Friday. He said, however, he did not want to make any announcement of details at this time.

On the questions of freedom of choice integration plans for schools, Nixon said such systems must be defined in terms of what they do. He said such a plan, if it is only a subterfuge, should be denied federal funds. If it advances desegregation, it should be supported, he said. The problem is difficult, he said, embracing a desire to keep the schools open and also to bring about desegregation.

"Before using the ultimate weapon of denying funds," he said, everything should be done to induce school authorities to comply with the law.

in an Army-style uniform who advised the parents of a serviceman he had died in Vietnam. The soldier is actually stationed in this country.

Last year, some district parents were made victims of cruel hoaxes by men who phoned false reports of deaths.

Anyone apprehended and convicted of impersonating a serviceman is subject to a federal prison term and fine, authorities said.

Uniformed personnel are sent to the homes of the nearest relatives of a man killed in service to report the death personally prior to the arrival of a telegram.

Anyone advised of such a death by someone in uniform is urged to inspect their credentials and obtain their address and telephone number.

Adm. John Byng was the only British admiral ever executed for an error in judgment. In 1757, the naval court convicted him on the charge of not doing his utmost to relieve Ft. St. Phillip in Minorca, threatened by the French.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I deal with my dandruff?

A. — One effective home treatment for dandruff is the application of hot olive oil to hair and scalp, and left on for several hours before shampooing. Then shampoo thoroughy with tincture of green soap, procurable at the drugstore.

Q. — How can I protect the backs of mirrors from scratches?

A. — By coating the backs with clear shellac. Another reminder: the sun will cause mirrors to become cloudy . . . so, hang them away from direct sunlight.

Q. — How can I prevent my iron from sticking to materials?

A. — If a small quantity of turpentine is added to the pot of starch, it will prevent the iron from sticking to the garments.

Q. — How can I soften up a stiffened chamois?

A. — If you'll soak the chamois in warm water to which a spoonful of olive oil has been added, the chamois will emerge from this as soft and clean as when new.

Q. — How can I treat candles used only for decorative purposes against drooping?

A. — By giving them a coating of shellac.

It is the first pay hike for members of Congress since a $7,500 boost—from $22,500 to $30,000—was voted in 1964. It is the first raise in history on which there was not a direct vote, a departure made possible by a 1967 law.

Under current salary scales, the congressional pension ceiling has been $24,000 after 32 years service. This will go up to $34,000 five years from now because of the new raise. Congressmen are required to pay 7½ per cent of their monthly pay if they join the pension program.

Some of the other fringe benefits that add to congressional comforts are:

—A $3,000 income tax deduction for living expenses. A pending bill would raise this to $5,500.

—A $3,000 annual allowance intended for purchases of stationery in cutrate Capitol stores. Members may draw this in cash and spend it for any purpose or pocket it.

—Travel expenses for at least seven round trips per year back home, plus two such trips for designated employes. This is in addtion to one round trip per session at a cost of 20 cents per mile.

—Free mailing privileges for official correspondence, plus a varying allowance—now $700 per year for House members—for air mail and special delvery stamps.

—Free telephone and telegraph service for official business which could run as high as 70,000 words of telegrams or cablegrams or almost 300 hours of long-distance phoning per year. This is in addition to unlimited long-distance service on leased government lines during limited hours on week-days and all day Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

—$3,600 a year for office expenses outside of Washington and free office space or annual rental allowances of $2,400 per year for two offices back home for House members. This varies for senators.

—Clerk hire allowances which vary for senators and representatives depending on the size of the state or district. The average House member may hire 11 employes and pay not more than one of them $24,439 per year. Senators are allowed more employes.

—Members may participate in group life insurance and health programs similar to many programs in private business. They contribute to the cost of the programs.

There are other benefits not spelled out in detail. These include world travel on official business, free haircuts for senators and cut rate haircuts (75 cents) for representatives and subsidized restaurants for members employes.

Nixon

efforts to achieve Middle East peace settlement.

Nixon was asked whether there has been any lessening of the nuclear threat from Red China.

He said that the ABM, or "thin" ballistic missile defense system, was not designed only against a threat from Red China, but as a part of over-all defenses. He said he does not see any change in the Chinese threat, but that all aspects of defense are being considered.

Nixon said there has been no progress on arms control talks with the Soviet Union but the talks would be emphasized.

Nixon was asked about the proposed rule of the Federal Communications Commission against the radio-TV advertising of cigarettes.

"As a nonsmoker, it wouldn't pose any problems to me," Nixon replied. He said, however, the ruling has just been brought to his attention and he hadn't had time to study it.

Asked how he felt about Johnson administration tax proposals for the poor, Nixon said tax reform has been a matter of discussions, which have been widely publicized.

"We went over the agenda and timetable on when it (his proposal) should come down," he said, adding that the secretary of treasury would make a preliminary announcement Friday. He said, however, he did not want to make any announcement of details at this time.

On the questions of freedom of choice integration plans for schools, Nixon said such systems must be defined in terms of what they do. He said such a plan, if it is only a subterfuge, should be denied federal funds. If it advances desegregation, it should be supported, he said. The problem is difficult, he said, embracing a desire to keep the schools open and also to bring about desegregation.

"Before using the ultimate weapon of denying funds," he said, everything should be done to induce school authorities to comply with the law.

Last year, some district parents were made victims of cruel hoaxes by men who phoned false reports of deaths.

Anyone apprehended and convicted of impersonating a serviceman is subject to a federal prison term and fine, authorities said.

Uniformed personnel are sent to the homes of the nearest relatives of a man killed in service to report the death personally prior to the arrival of a telegram.

Anyone advised of such a death by someone in uniform is urged to inspect their credentials and obtain their address and telephone number.

Adm. John Byng was the only British admiral ever executed for an error in judgment. In 1757, the naval court convicted him on the charge of not doing his utmost to relieve Ft. St. Phillip in Minorca, threatened by the French.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I deal with my dandruff?

A. — One effective home treatment for dandruff is the application of hot olive oil to hair and scalp, and left on for several hours before shampooing. Then shampoo thoroughy with tincture of green soap, procurable at the drugstore.

Q. — How can I protect the backs of mirrors from scratches?

A. — By coating the backs with clear shellac. Another reminder: the sun will cause mirrors to become cloudy . . . so, hang them away from direct sunlight.

Q. — How can I prevent my iron from sticking to materials?

A. — If a small quantity of turpentine is added to the pot of starch, it will prevent the iron from sticking to the garments.

Q. — How can I soften up a stiffened chamois?

A. — If you'll soak the chamois in warm water to which a spoonful of olive oil has been added, the chamois will emerge from this as soft and clean as when new.

Q. — How can I treat candles used only for decorative purposes against drooping?

A. — By giving them a coating of shellac.

Lima's Firemen Report Off Sick In Pay Dispute

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Lima's fire department was depleted by one-third today as 24 men called in sick to dramatize their demands for a $1,500 a year salary boost.

Of those who said they were ill, Fire Chief George Kelley said 12 were scheduled for duty today, and the others were off duty but still reported in sick. The city has 75 firemen, and all five fire stations were in operation.

Mayor Christian Morris declared "there is no danger of no fire protection" for the city of 58,000 people. Twelve regularly scheduled firemen were on duty and another seven off-duty men were called in today.

City Council has proposed no pay increases, but instead is making a survey of city jobs and pay scales.

$4,000 Awarded In Injury Action

LISBON — Lewis Holdshue of Darlington, Pa., received a $4,000 judgment Wednesday from a Common Pleas Court jury for injuries his wfe Erma received at Guilford Lake. He sued for $10,000.

The defendant was Ramon Whinery, operator of Whinery's Landing — a boating concession and picnic - camping - swimming area on the south side of the lake.

Mrs. Holdshue was injured July 15, 1962, when an unattended car in which children were playing rolled down a slope and struck a picnic table where she was seated.

Defense counsel claimed Whinery was not responsible because the children evidently set the car in motion.

Holdshue's counsel claimed Whiney was negligent because he permitted parking on the hillside and did not have a barrier around the picnic area.

Mrs. Holdshue sued Whinery for $25,000. A jury was seated for that case in May 1965, but Judge Joel H. Sharp sustained the defendant's motion for a directed verdict at the end of the plaintiff's opening statement.

The judgment was reversed by the Seventh District Court of Appeals. The Ohio Supreme Court upheld the reversal one year ago when Whinery appealed. The case has not been retried.

Man, 22, Jailed As Drunk Driver

A man identified as Rodger M. Clutter, 22, of 2200 Danbury Ave., Wellsville, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail when he pleaded "no contest" today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

The court also suspended Clutter's driver's license for 60 days. Clutter wls cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol Jan. 24 at 11:10 a. m. on E. 3rd St. He was represented by Ben H. Berman. The judge said he imposed the minimum penalty because of Clutter's record in military service, cited in mitigation by his counsel.

Meanwhile, Michael A. Densmore, 19, of Oak St. was fined $10 and costs on a charge of operating an auto without an emergency brake. He was cited by the patrol Wednesday at 11:40 a. m. on Route 7. Thomas E. Danley, 27, of Shady Ln. was fined $15 and costs on a charge of driving 60 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 7. He was cited by the patrol last Friday at 12:35 a. m.

Assembly Approval Asked In Tuition Hike

COLUMBUS, Ohio — State Sen. Douglas Applegate, D-Steubenville, thinks the Ohio General Assembly should have a greater voice in how much tuition state universities and colleges can charge students.

The Jefferson County Democrat was listed as a co-sponsor of a bill Wednesday which would require assembly approval of tuition hikes proposed by the Ohio Board of Regents or trustees of state colleges and universities.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Some men are remembered for their careers, others merely for some incidental or off-hand act. John Montagu, the 4th Earl of Sandwich, spent 40 infamous years in British politics, but his name became a household word after 1762 when he supposedly gambled for 24 continuous hours without eating except for slices of cold meat between pieces of bread.

New Course Launched In Sheriff Fight

In the latest phase of the disputed Hancock County sheriff's race, the Court of Commissioners Wednesday night tabled a 22-page notice filed by Lou Smoleski relative to disputed ballots.

The notice, drafted Jan. 9, was served by Atty. Frank Pietranton, counsel for Smoleski, Tuesday afternoon on George Konchar, county clerk, and William C. Graham, court president.

The action did not pertain to the West Virginia Supreme Court's ruling which upset Smoleski's earlier victory and declared Ralph Patrick, his Republican opponent, as the winner.

The high court Tuesday morning ordered the Hancock County Court to reconvene as a board of canvassers and count only those ballots in Precinct 32 that were legally signed by two poll clerks.

Under the Supreme Court ruling, the revised Precinct 32 would give Patrick a slight vote margin over Smoleski and could reverse the election as Smoleski as sheriff.

Smoleski, in his notice to objection of the disputed ballots counted for Patrick and of rejected ballots not counted for him in specific precincts, contends that all the ballots cast in 10 precincts were not properly signed by legally qualified poll clerks receiving. Therefore the ballots were illegally cast and illegally counted.

Smoleski also contends that the intent of the voters in specific ballots cast in 24 precincts is unascertainable from an inspection of the faces of the ballots in as much as there were no proper markings in the circles of the ballots.

The commissioners deferred action on the notice until they reconvene Friday night. Meanwhile, the Hancock Court has not yet officially been notified by the Supreme Court to reconvene as a board of canvassers and count the ballots in Precinct 32.

Local Resident Injured At Work Others Treated

A local resident hurt at work Wednesday was treated at City Hospital along with five others.

Robert Mark Scott of Rose Terrace, an employe of Foodland in the St. Clair Plaza, suffered a laceration of the left index finger on a metal shelf edge.

Also treated were Delbert Reed of Chester RD 1, a sprain of the left elbow in a fall over a bicycle; Michael Kim Mills, son of Kenneth Mills of Lisbon St., a right foot injury while playing basketball at school.

William Montgomery of 1070 Township Line Rd., Wellsville, an employe of the Sayre Electric Co., a puncture wound of the right foot on a nail at work; William Reed of the Valley Trailer Court, East Liverpool, a possible fracture of the left knee while playing basketball.

Yuko Takebayashi of Villa View, a possible contusion of the right elbow in a fall while entering a school bus.

Jailed After Charge

LISBON — J. Frank Cary, 61, of Washington, Pa., is being held in village jail in lieu of $300 bond following his arrest at 12:30 a. m. today on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

The uranium mineralization of Ambrosia Lake, N.M., ranks first in the United States in terms of total uranium reserves.

$4,000 Awarded In Injury Action

LISBON — Lewis Holdshue of Darlington, Pa., received a $4,000 judgment Wednesday from a Common Pleas Court jury for injuries his wfe Erma received at Guilford Lake. He sued for $10,000.

The defendant was Ramon Whinery, operator of Whinery's Landing — a boating concession and picnic - camping - swimming area on the south side of the lake.

Mrs. Holdshue was injured July 15, 1962, when an unattended car in which children were playing rolled down a slope and struck a picnic table where she was seated.

Defense counsel claimed Whinery was not responsible because the children evidently set the car in motion.

Holdshue's counsel claimed Whiney was negligent because he permitted parking on the hillside and did not have a barrier around the picnic area.

Mrs. Holdshue sued Whinery for $25,000. A jury was seated for that case in May 1965, but Judge Joel H. Sharp sustained the defendant's motion for a directed verdict at the end of the plaintiff's opening statement.

The judgment was reversed by the Seventh District Court of Appeals. The Ohio Supreme Court upheld the reversal one year ago when Whinery appealed. The case has not been retried.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Some men are remembered for their careers, others merely for some incidental or off-hand act. John Montagu, the 4th Earl of Sandwich, spent 40 infamous years in British politics, but his name became a household word after 1762 when he supposedly gambled for 24 continuous hours without eating except for slices of cold meat between pieces of bread.

New Course Launched In Sheriff Fight

In the latest phase of the disputed Hancock County sheriff's race, the Court of Commissioners Wednesday night tabled a 22-page notice filed by Lou Smoleski relative to disputed ballots.

The notice, drafted Jan. 9, was served by Atty. Frank Pietranton, counsel for Smoleski, Tuesday afternoon on George Konchar, county clerk, and William C. Graham, court president.

The action did not pertain to the West Virginia Supreme Court's ruling which upset Smoleski's earlier victory and declared Ralph Patrick, his Republican opponent, as the winner.

The high court Tuesday morning ordered the Hancock County Court to reconvene as a board of canvassers and count only those ballots in Precinct 32 that were legally signed by two poll clerks.

Under the Supreme Court ruling, the revised Precinct 32 would give Patrick a slight vote margin over Smoleski and could reverse the election as Smoleski as sheriff.

Smoleski, in his notice to objection of the disputed ballots counted for Patrick and of rejected ballots not counted for him in specific precincts, contends that all the ballots cast in 10 precincts were not properly signed by legally qualified poll clerks receiving. Therefore the ballots were illegally cast and illegally counted.

Smoleski also contends that the intent of the voters in specific ballots cast in 24 precincts is unascertainable from an inspection of the faces of the ballots in as much as there were no proper markings in the circles of the ballots.

The commissioners deferred action on the notice until they reconvene Friday night. Meanwhile, the Hancock Court has not yet officially been notified by the Supreme Court to reconvene as a board of convassers and count the ballots in Precinct 32.

The citation reads: "On May 9, 1968, while conducting a search - and - destroy operation near DaNang, the company came under intense automatic weapons and small arms fire from a large, well - concealed North Vietnamese force. During the ensuing fire fight, the lead platoon was pinned down and sustained numerous casualties, including the platoon commander.

ever, that locks postmasterships into the patronage system must be changed by legislation, not executive order and until the Senate votes to give up its power of confirmation over such appointments a lasting break with the past cannot be assured.

Under current practice, senators generally select from the top three candidates in their own cities who have qualified by Civil Service examination. Representatves chose the rest from the top three qualifiers in their districts.

As long as the power to veto a nominee lies with Congress, the preference of the postmaster general presumably could be blocked should local political needs momentarily eclipse postal merit.

Chairman Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., indicated a favorable response by his Senate Post Office Committee, and noted that the Senate approved "this course of action" two years ago in a congressional reorganization bill that died in the House.

ies of the last page of the governor's State of the State message.

Chairman Ralph E. Fisher R-24 Wooster said Collier did not go into the proposed gross receipts tax, which the administration prefers to call a graduated vendor's excise tax.

The tax, which is earmarked for education, would raise $264 million over the next two years. The additional money would come from State Issue No. 1 bond money approved by voters in November.

Merchants having gross incomes from $30,000 to $100,000 would pay one-half of one per cent gross receipts tax, from $100,000 to $5,000, one per cent and incomes over $500,000, 1.5 per cent.

Fisher declined to cimment on the tax "until I've had a chance to study it."

When asked if he would support an increase in or additional taxes, not necessarily a gross receipts tax, to finance new education programs at all levels, Fisher said:

"Yes, the need is there. I would support additional taxes if that is the only way it can be done."

A second member of the Finance Committee was more outspoken.

Ethel G. Swanbeck R-14 Huron said if additional money were necessary, she would prefer a statewide income tax or an increase in the sales tax.

"Well, you know," she explained, "many things we do are not acceptable to the governor. After all I am representing people."

Charles E. Fry R-9 Springfield, House speaker pro tem said he felt the importance of new vocational-technical, higher, and primary and secondary education programs, "will justify" additional taxes.

"But to indicate specifically where these taxes should be, I cannot do until I have had a chance to study the proposals," Fry said. "anybody who does it off the top of their head just isn't thinking."

Fry said since "we have never had a gross receipts tax before a House committee," no one knows exactly what its effects would be.

The tax will be included in an omnibus bill, which will include Rhodes' educational proposals at all levels — higher, vocational-technical and primary and secondary.

The Finance Department indicated that, to its knowledge, the gross receipts tax would be the only state tax included in the bill, but said it would probably also include a voluntary income tax on the county level.

Rhodes' executive operating budget released earlier, which the administration lauded as being "balanced" in terms of expected state revenue and expenditures, did not contain funds for vocational and technical education.

His "revised budget," which would make additional tax sources a necessity also includes additional funds for higher education and primary and secondary education.

Gen. Weyland Set To Advise Peace 'Team'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A veteran Army field commander of the Vietnam war will become military adviser to the Nixon administration's peace negotiating team in Paris, it has been learned.

He is Lt. Gen. Fred C. Weyand, who came to know the chief U.S. negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge when Lodge wah ambassador to South Vietnam.

Weyand declined to comment on the reports, but it was learned he will leave for Paris this weekend.

Weyand, 52, back from Vietnam only five months, has been the Army's chief of reserve affairs, stationed in the Pentagon. He spent 2½ years in the war.

The tall, athletic native of Arbuckle, Calif., led the 25th Infantry Division from Hawaii to Vietnam and later was promoted to command of U.S. forces in an 11-province corps area, including Saigon.

Cigarettes

broadcasters would accept the recommendation.

The Tobacco Institute called the announcement "an obvious threat to usurp the congressional function," and said a ban would be arbitrary and extreme.

Hyde told a news conference there would be only two things that might cause to reconsider a complete ban: The broadcasters could omit the advertisements voluntarily, or the FCC might approve advertising of law-tar-low-nicotine cigarettes.

He made clear, however, the emphasis of the commission's thinking is on a complete ban.

The FCC has given interested parties until May 6 to comment, and until July 7 to reply to others' comments. It promised it would not act before considering all comment.

Hyde cited figures reported by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare indicating that lung cancer claims about 50,000 lives each year and emphysema and chronic bronchitis another 25,000.

All of these diseases, he said, are related to cigarette smoking. The tobacco industry has contended—since the U.S. surgeon general claimed such a link in 1964—that cigarette smoking was never scientifically proven to cause lung ailments.

But the FCC proposal, accepting the supposed link, said, "it would thus appear wholly at odds with the public interest for broadcasters to present advertising promoting the consumption of the product posing this unique danger—a danger measured in terms of an epidemic of deaths and disabilities."

Tobacco firms currently pour $226.9 million a year into radio and televison commercials — about 75 per cent of their advertising budget and 10 per cent of the broadcasters' revenue.

Hyde denied that the FCC proposal amounted to censorship.

"I don't believe the First Amendment precludes the commisson from prohibiting advertising which would cause the deaths of individuals in the numbers presented here," he said.

One of its aims, Hyde specified, was to "give notice what action can be expected if Congress does not provide guidelines."

Couple Freed By Iraq Due Back In U.S.

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — American oilman Paul Bail and his wife are expected to leave for the United States as soon as possible following his release Wednesday after a month of captivity in Baghdad.

Bail's arrest on a charge of "activities within the sphere of espionage" apparently resulted from the combination of a tall radio antenna projecting above his house and the current spy fever in Iraq.

Iraqi officials said Bail had an unlicensed transmitter. Belgian diplomats who interceded on behalf of the American said he had an old short-wave receiver, and the outsize antenna it required aroused suspicion.

NFL Position Toughens In Peace Talks

PARIS (AP) — The Viet Cong's National Liberation Front told negotiators at the Paris peace talks today progress is impossible so long as the present South Vietnamese government remains in power and the Americans refuse to negotiate with the Front.

The new attack by the NLF's chief negotiator, Tran Buu Kiem, indicated clearly that the Front's position had hardened.

Opening the third weekly session of the four-party talks, Kiem said the Paris conference "can make no progress" as long as the administration of President Nguyen Van Thieu, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky and Premier Tran Van Huong remains in office.

"The South Vietnamese population," he continued, "firmly demands this administration's overthrow and the establishment of a cabinet in Saigon for the re-establishment of peace, a cabinet which will engage in serious discussions with the National Liberation Front to end the American war of aggression and bring peace, independence and sovereignty to South Vietnam."

Kiem accused the Saigon government of being "warlike ... brutal ... tyrannical ... fascist ... corrupt from top to bottom ... representing nothing but slavery and decay." The Saigon government, he said, "is in fact the hand of the United States."

Bronze Star Presented To Area Marine

James Curtis Oyster, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Oyster Jr. of Chester RD 1, has received a Bronze Star medal for "heroic achievement" while serving with the Marine Corps in Vietnam.

Oyster, who held the rank of sergeant at the time of his discharge, was cited for duties performed "in connection with operations against the enemy"... "while serving as platoon sergeant with Co. D., 1st Battalion, 26th Marines, 3rd Marine Division."

The citation reads: "On May 9, 1968, while conducting a search - and - destroy operation near DaNang, the company came under intense automatic weapons and small arms fire from a large, well - concealed North Vietnamese force. During the ensuing fire fight, the lead platoon was pinned down and sustained numerous casualties, including the platoon commander.

"Realizing the seriousness of the situation, Oyster immediately took charge of the unit and unhesitatingly exposed himself to hostile fire, reorganized the men and directed them to defensive positions."

He was wounded in later engagements, receiving two Purple Hearts. He was then sent to the Bethesda Navy Hospital and after a stay of nearly six months received his discharge.

He was graduated in 1964 from Oak Glen High School and joined the Marines that year, undergoing basic training at Parris Island, S. C. In addition to Vietnam, he also served in Scotland and Roto, Spain.

Oyster is a student at Fairmont (W. Va.) State College.

Under current practice, senators generally select from the top three candidates in their own cities who have qualified by Civil Service examination. Representatves chose the rest from the top three qualifiers in their districts.

As long as the power to veto a nominee lies with Congress, the preference of the postmaster general presumably could be blocked should local political needs momentarily eclipse postal merit.

Life Fishing Tags Eyed For Those 65 And Older

By JOHN THOMAS
Review Correspondent

COLUMBUS — It appeared likely Tuesday night that the Ohio Legislature may take another try at granting permanent fishing licenses for those over 65-years-old.

It didn't start out that way, but after a committee hearing a bill proposed by Douglas Applegate, (D-Steubenville), members seemed to agree that the pending legislation needed to be broadened to bring in those persons between 65-69 under a state law which now grants permanent fishing licenses to those over 70.

APPLEGATE'S bill is designed only to require all fishing license issuing agencies to make the special - priced $2 fishing licenses for those between 65-69. Presently, the only place they can be purchased is at the Common Pleas Court clerk's office.

The Jefferson County legislator said the idea of making all of the state's 5,000 license agencies eligible was submitted to him by Carl Stacey, Columbiana County Clerk of Courts. Applegate said there was a need to make more places available for senior citizens to get the licenses.

A spokesman for the Division of Wildlife said the proposal would cost the state $2,000 in added printing expenses, since upwards of 180,000 age 65-69 fishing licenses would have to be printed. There are around 25,000 fishing licenses issued to the 65-69 age group on an annual basis. The over-70 permanent licenses number 5,000.

Administratively, the wildlife man said, the proposal could cost an additional $18,000 a year.

The spokesman said any move to include the 65-69 age group in the permanent one-time category would be fought by the state. The state, he said, would lose $50,000 a year. It was suggested that the loss be made up by lowering from 18 to 16 the age when fishing licenses are required.

The committee directed Applegate to revise the bill to include the 65-69 age group in the permanent classification by next week's hearing.

Last session, the committee tried to get that age group included in the permanent license category, but comprised by lowering from the normal $4 to $2 for them. Those over 70 pay $1 for the permanent license.

IN OTHER action, a committee hearing a House joint resolution calling for lowering the voting age to 19 agreed to ask an attorney general's opinion on whether the issue of setting a minimum age for office holders should also be placed on the ballot.

Applegate's resolution calls for lowering the voting age to 19, but stipulates that no one under 21 could hold public office. The constitution now provides that any qualified elector — in most cases a person age 21 or over — is eligible to hold office.

During a Senate Elections, Commerce and Labor Committee hearing, questions were raised on the necessity of placing the office-holder provision of Applegate's proposal on the ballot.

A cosponsor of another resolution, which just specifies lowering the voting age, expressed concern that the inclusion of both questions on the ballot might hurt the lower voting age proposal in an election.

'Let Us Live Together' Stressed At Meeting

Three guest speakers spoke on the theme "Let Us Live Together" during the 124th anniversary dinner of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church Wednesday night in Hilbert Hall. More than 300 were present.

The Rev. Albert Ross of Youngstown, pastor of the New Hope Baptist Church, used a sub - title "Are You Ready?" as he discussed present day life "in an age of mixed emotions." Declaring people should be ecumenically bound together, he said instead they fear treading against the status quo.

Representing Congregation Beth Shalom, Dr. Alexander S. Fisher, tri - state chairman for Bonds of Israel, discussed Jewish family life and the importance of accepting the precepts handed down. Regardless of the station in life, he said people might find it easy to live together in a peaceful world if they tried.

Fr. Joseph Fata, assistant pastor of St. Aloysius Catholic Church, offered views of the younger generation relative to brotherhood. He said "if barriers would be torn down and bridges of understanding built, the world would find the basic ingredients of love and understanding built, the world would find the basic ingredients of love and understanding within reach." He advised the group to "recognize the challenges of the present and meet them with the principles of truth."

The Rev. H. Gene Toot opened the program, stressing the need of fellowship in every community. He introduced the wives of the speakers.

Rowland Kaufman led group singing, with his wife, Mrs. Jessie Hall Kaufman, at the piano.

A certificate of appreciation was presented Mrs. Dorothy McFaul, who has served as nursery attendant for more than 20 years.

A round of applause was accorded Paul James, in charge of the ticket sale, who spoke briefly.

Recognition was given Mrs. Eleanor Aliulis, dinner chairman, and Mrs. Helen Hunsberger, in charge of the dining-room. The tables were decorated in a red and white theme.

The Rev. Richard Wallarab gave the invocation.

Man Is Hospitalized After Beating In Jail

An East Liverpool man is confined to the Veterans Hospital in Pittsburgh with injuries received early Wednesday morning in Wellsville City Jail.

Paul M. Erwin, whose address was listed as 216 Alton St., suffered a possible fractured jaw and fractured skull when beaten by Terry Thompson of Center St., Wellsville, another prisoner.

Erwin first was treated at City Hospital and then transferred to Pittsburgh.

City Improvements Discussed By Group

"How To Improve Our City" was the topic used by speakers during the meeting of the East Liverpool Toastmasters Club Wednesday night at the Ohio Valley Gas Co. office.

James Cunningham presided.

Alvin Babb received the bull-thrower award and James Buchanan was named the most improved speaker.

Babb served as toastmaster, Cunningham topicsmaster and Donald Miller chief evaluator. A board meeting will precede the session next Wednesday.

Council Sets Collector Fee In Industry

Industry Borough Council voted to keep the borough tax collector's fee at 5 per cent at a meeting Wednesday night.

Last week Western Beaver School Board lowered the school tax collectors fee to 3 per cent.

Council adopted a resolution to join with the school district in a proposed recreation board. Thomas Hanner will represent Council and Richard Stiffey the citizens of Industry. The first meeting will be Feb. 17 at Fairview School.

Pat O'Hara, building inspector, reported seven building permits totaling $9,960 were issued. They include two house additions, one apartment house, one garage addition, one tool shed, one boat shelter and one for gasoline storage tanks.

New officers elected by the planning commission include James McGee, president; Robert Cowan, vice president; and Edward Walker, secretary. Councilman, Nick Yanosich, reported the municipal authority has completed installation of water lines on Barclay Hill and Engle Roads.

Mrs. Mary Swaney, borough treasurer, was authorized to secure information concerning Social Security for borough employes. Council voted to continue serving without pay.

The next meeting will be March 5 at 7:30 p.m.

PUCO To Hear Officials

2 To Appear At Columbus On Gas Boost Application

Solicitor J. Michael Kapp and Council President Norman Bucher are scheduled to appear before the Ohio Public Utilities Commission in Columbus Friday at 1 p. m. to help explain the city government's position on a request for a rate increase filed with the PUCO by the Ohio Valley Gas Co.

Kapp said he and the Council president will appear at the request of the PUCO's engineering division "to relate what has transpired in East Liverpool" (in prior protracted negotiations with the utility) "and give our opinion" (on the company's request).

Kapp said the company's request to the PUCO seeks a 15.5 per cent hike, effective immediately, in a two-year contract.

The company filed the application at Columbus after it was unable to reach agreement with Council in negotiations that began in mid-1967.

At one time, the 1966-67 City Council and the utility's local representatives reached agreement on a four-year pact that averaged out to a 12.33 boost over the life of the contract. Legislation was enacted in December 1967 to implement that agreement, but it was repealed early in 1968 when the current Council assumed office.

The 1968-69 Council then went into negotiations with the company and worked out an agreement on a four-year pact that averaged out to 11.88 per cent over four years. It called for a hike of 7.9 per cent the first year, 8.9 per cent the second year, 15.8 per cent the third year and 16.7 per cent the fourth year.

However, the second agreement fell short of approval when enabling legislation was presented. After some more negotiations, including a study of the city situation by the PUCO requested by Council, the company filed its application with the state agency.

Kapp said the fact municipal representatives have been asked to appear at Columbus indicates the company's application is under study, but there is no indication when a decision will be handed down.

Campers To Join National Outing

Seven families registered for the convention of the National Campers and Hikers Association when the Rainbows End chapter met Monday night at the Wellsville Boat Club.

It will be held July 13-18 in South Carolina.

Floyd Saltsman, wagonmaster, presided.

Red carnation insignias for club jackets were distributed. Jay and Ruth Carter of Salineville were enrolled as members. It was decided to sell mini-leveling jacks and skids during the state and national campouts.

Guests were Mrs. Dorothy Foster and son Dick of East Liverpool and Bud McElroy and son Jeff of Leetonia.

McElroy screened slides of the campout at Guilford Lake last summer and slides of the St. Lawrence waterway taken when he was employed there.

Thief Obtains Tape Player, Color TV Set

A color television was valued at $600 and a portable stereo tape player worth $100 were taken from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walters on Park Way in Thompson Park in a burglary discovered late Wednesday morning, police reported.

Officers said the entry was discovered by Walters' son when he went to the home to feed his parents' dog in their absence. Entry was gained through a basement window on the east side of the home.

A friend of the family who fed the dog Tuesday at 9 p.m. reported that all was normal at that time. Officers said the intruder turned out an outside yard light, darkening the driveway to help conceal his activities.

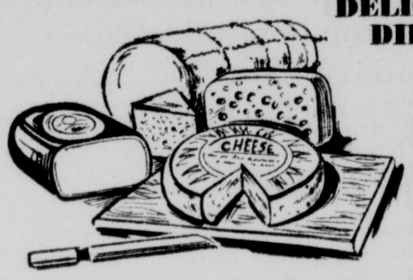

Walters is caretaker at Thompson Park and the home sits on park property.

Meanwhile, Terry O'Hara of 245 Highland Ave., Wellsville, told police a tape player valued at $120 and three tapes worth $20 were stolen from his 1967 model car Wednesday night while it was parked on Walnut at E. 3rd St.

John Sullivan, an attendant at the Standard Oil Co. service station at E. 5th St. and Broadway, told officers some keys and a cigarette lighter were stolen from a desk in the office at the station about 10 p. m. Wednesday.

Sullivan told officers he was working outside when four or five boys 14 to 16 years old came to the station to use the restroom. When he returned to the office, the lighter and the keys were gone, he said.

Life Fishing Tags Eyed For Those 65 And Older

By JOHN THOMAS
Review Correspondent

COLUMBUS — It appeared likely Tuesday night that the Ohio Legislature may take another try at granting permanent fishing licenses for those over 65-years-old.

It didn't start out that way, but after a committee hearing a bill proposed by Douglas Applegate, (D-Steubenville), members seemed to agree that the pending legislation needed to be broadened to bring in those persons between 65-69 under a state law which now grants permanent fishing licenses to those over 70.

APPLEGATE'S bill is designed only to require all fishing license issuing agencies to make the special - priced $2 fishing licenses for those between 65-69. Presently, the only place they can be purchased is at the Common Pleas Court clerk's office.

The Jefferson County legislator said the idea of making all of the state's 5,000 license agencies eligible was submitted to him by Carl Stacey, Columbiana County Clerk of Courts. Applegate said there was a need to make more places available for senior citizens to get the licenses.

A spokesman for the Division of Wildlife said the proposal would cost the state $2,000 in added printing expenses, since upwards of 180,000 age 65-69 fishing licenses would have to be printed. There are around 25,000 fishing licenses issued to the 65-69 age group on an annual basis. The over-70 permanent licenses number 5,000.

Administratively, the wildlife man said, the proposal could cost an additional $18,000 a year.

The spokesman said any move to include the 65-69 age group in the permanent one-time category would be fought by the state. The state, he said, would lose $50,000 a year. It was suggested that the loss be made up by lowering from 18 to 16 the age when fishing licenses are required.

The committee directed Applegate to revise the bill to include the 65-69 age group in the permanent classification by next week's hearing.

Last session, the committee tried to get that age group included in the permanent license category, but comprised by lowering from the normal $4 to $2 for them. Those over 70 pay $1 for the permanent license.

IN OTHER action, a committee hearing a House joint resolution calling for lowering the voting age to 19 agreed to ask an attorney general's opinion on whether the issue of setting a minimum age for office holders should also be placed on the ballot.

Applegate's resolution calls for lowering the voting age to 19, but stipulates that no one under 21 could hold public office. The constitution now provides that any qualified elector — in most cases a person age 21 or over — is eligible to hold office.

During a Senate Elections, Commerce and Labor Committee hearing, questions were raised on the necessity of placing the office-holder provision of Applegate's proposal on the ballot.

A cosponsor of another resolution, which just specifies lowering the voting age, expressed concern that the inclusion of both questions on the ballot might hurt the lower voting age proposal in an election.

'Let Us Live Together' Stressed At Meeting

Three guest speakers spoke on the theme "Let Us Live Together" during the 124th anniversary dinner of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church Wednesday night in Hilbert Hall. More than 300 were present.

The Rev. Albert Ross of Youngstown, pastor of the New Hope Baptist Church, used a sub - title "Are You Ready?" as he discussed present day life "in an age of mixed emotions." Declaring people should be ecumenically bound together, he said instead they fear treading against the status quo.

Representing Congregation Beth Shalom, Dr. Alexander S. Fisher, tri - state chairman for Bonds of Israel, discussed Jewish family life and the importance of accepting the precepts handed down. Regardless of the station in life, he said people might find it easy to live together in a peaceful world if they tried.

He advised the group to "recognize the challenges of the present and meet them with the principles of truth."

The Rev. H. Gene Toot opened the program, stressing the need of fellowship in every community. He introduced the wives of the speakers.

Rowland Kaufman led group singing, with his wife, Mrs. Jessie Hall Kaufman, at the piano.

A certificate of appreciation was presented Mrs. Dorothy McFaul, who has served as nursery attendant for more than 20 years.

A round of applause was accorded Paul James, in charge of the ticket sale, who spoke briefly.

Recognition was given Mrs. Eleanor Aliulis, dinner chairman, and Mrs. Helen Hunsberger, in charge of the dining-room. The tables were decorated in a red and white theme.

The Rev. Richard Wallarab gave the invocation.

Man Is Hospitalized After Beating In Jail

An East Liverpool man is confined to the Veterans Hospital in Pittsburgh with injuries received early Wednesday morning in Wellsville City Jail.

Paul M. Erwin, whose address was listed as 216 Alton St., suffered a possible fractured jaw and fractured skull when beaten by Terry Thompson of Center St., Wellsville, another prisoner.

Erwin first was treated at City Hospital and then transferred to Pittsburgh.

City Improvements Discussed By Group

"How To Improve Our City" was the topic used by speakers during the meeting of the East Liverpool Toastmasters Club Wednesday night at the Ohio Valley Gas Co. office.

James Cunningham presided.

Alvin Babb received the bull-thrower award and James Buchanan was named the most improved speaker.

Babb served as toastmaster, Cunningham topicsmaster and Donald Miller chief evaluator. A board meeting will precede the session next Wednesday.

Council Sets Collector Fee In Industry

Industry Borough Council voted to keep the borough tax collector's fee at 5 per cent at a meeting Wednesday night.

Last week Western Beaver School Board lowered the school tax collectors fee to 3 per cent.

Council adopted a resolution to join with the school district in a proposed recreation board. Thomas Hanner will represent Council and Richard Stiffey the citizens of Industry. The first meeting will be Feb. 17 at Fairview School.

Pat O'Hara, building inspector, reported seven building permits totaling $9,960 were issued. They include two house additions, one apartment house, one garage addition, one tool shed, one boat shelter and one for gasoline storage tanks.

New officers elected by the planning commission include James McGee, president; Robert Cowan, vice president; and Edward Walker, secretary. Councilman, Nick Yanosich, reported the municipal authority has completed installation of water lines on Barclay Hill and Engle Roads.

Mrs. Mary Swaney, borough treasurer, was authorized to secure information concerning Social Security for borough employes. Council voted to continue serving without pay.

The next meeting will be March 5 at 7:30 p.m.

PUCO To Hear Officials

2 To Appear At Columbus On Gas Boost Application

Solicitor J. Michael Kapp and Council President Norman Bucher are scheduled to appear before the Ohio Public Utilities Commission in Columbus Friday at 1 p. m. to help explain the city government's position on a request for a rate increase filed with the PUCO by the Ohio Valley Gas Co.

Kapp said he and the Council president will appear at the request of the PUCO's engineering division "to relate what has transpired in East Liverpool" (in prior protracted negotiations with the utility) "and give our opinion" (on the company's request).

Kapp said the company's request to the PUCO seeks a 15.5 per cent hike, effective immediately, in a two-year contract.

The company filed the application at Columbus after it was unable to reach agreement with Council in negotiations that began in mid-1967.

At one time, the 1966-67 City Council and the utility's local representatives reached agreement on a four-year pact that averaged out to a 12.33 boost over the life of the contract. Legislation was enacted in December 1967 to implement that agreement, but it was repealed early in 1968 when the current Council assumed office.

The 1968-69 Council then went into negotiations with the company and worked out an agreement on a four-year pact that averaged out to 11.88 per cent over four years. It called for a hike of 7.9 per cent the first year, 8.9 per cent the second year, 15.8 per cent the third year and 16.7 per cent the fourth year.

However, the second agreement fell short of approval when enabling legislation was presented. After some more negotiations, including a study of the city situation by the PUCO requested by Council, the company filed its application with the state agency.

Kapp said the fact municipal representatives have been asked to appear at Columbus indicates the company's application is under study, but there is no indication when a decision will be handed down.

Campers To Join National Outing

Seven families registered for the convention of the National Campers and Hikers Association when the Rainbows End chapter met Monday night at the Wellsville Boat Club.

It will be held July 13-18 in South Carolina.

Floyd Saltsman, wagonmaster, presided.

Red carnation insignias for club jackets were distributed. Jay and Ruth Carter of Salineville were enrolled as members. It was decided to sell mini-leveling jacks and skids during the state and national campouts.

Guests were Mrs. Dorothy Foster and son Dick of East Liverpool and Bud McElroy and son Jeff of Leetonia.

McElroy screened slides of the campout at Guilford Lake last summer and slides of the St. Lawrence waterway taken when he was employed there.

Thief Obtains Tape Player, Color TV Set

A color television was valued at $600 and a portable stereo tape player worth $100 were taken from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walters on Park Way in Thompson Park in a burglary discovered late Wednesday morning, police reported.

Officers said the entry was discovered by Walters' son when he went to the home to feed his parents' dog in their absence. Entry was gained through a basement window on the east side of the home.

A friend of the family who fed the dog Tuesday at 9 p.m. reported that all was normal at that time. Officers said the intruder turned out an outside yard light, darkening the driveway to help conceal his activities.

Walters is caretaker at Thompson Park and the home sits on park property.

Meanwhile, Terry O'Hara of 245 Highland Ave., Wellsville, told police a tape player valued at $120 and three tapes worth $20 were stolen from his 1967 model car Wednesday night while it was parked on Walnut at E. 3rd St.

John Sullivan, an attendant at the Standard Oil Co. service station at E. 5th St. and Broadway, told officers some keys and a cigarette lighter were stolen from a desk in the office at the station about 10 p. m. Wednesday.

Sullivan told officers he was working outside when four or five boys 14 to 16 years old came to the station to use the restroom. When he returned to the office, the lighter and the keys were gone, he said.

You Can't Take It With You

Last Will And Testament

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — There are few rites on earth more solemn than making out a last will and testament.

Everybody keeps warning you that you should do it, and sooner or later most people do. Here's how it sometimes operates.

You go into the law firm of Zincorn, Samllovitch, O'Brannigan and Smuggles and tell the receptionist you want to make out your will. She casts a dubious look at your frayed collar and scuffed shoes and suggests you see Mr. Smuggles.

Smuggles, it turns out, is the junior member of the firm—the son-in-law of Mr. Zincorn—and the ink on his law degree is still somewhat damp.

"Who would you like to serve as your executor?" asks Smuggles. When you suggest that he will do just fine, he smiles like three Cheshire cats. He pulls out a pad of large yellow paper and starts putting down the data.

"Do you own any real estate?" "Yeah, a cemetery lot."

"Well," says Smuggles tactfully, "perhaps you'll want to save that for yourself. Any bonds?"

"Nope."

"Any stock market investments?"

"Nope."

"What value do you place on your home?"

"You'll have to ask my landlord. It belongs to him."

"I see," says Smuggles, his smile beginning to fade. "How about your insurance?"

"Oh, that's already made out to mother. I think that's only fair, seeing as how she's been making the payments on it herself the last five years."

"H-m-m-m. Do you have any valuable collections of any kind?"

"You mean those seashells I picked up at Coney Island, or the collection of knots I keep in the basement which I tied when I was a kid to win my first Boy Scout merit badge?"

"Well, I guess we can forget those," says Smuggles, beginning to draw doodles on his pad. "How about your valuable personal possessions?"

"All I got is my old clothes and a varsity sweater I won for making my college wrestling squad. I thought I'd leave those to the Salvation Army—that is, if they think it's worth the trouble."

"How about your savings account?"

"What savings account?"

"Don't you have anything of value you want to leave to someone?"

"Yeah, I got a lot of free advice and—oh, yes, a $1 New York State lottery ticket that'll be worth $100,000 if I win."

"Don't you even have a checking account?"

"Yep, but right now it's down to $51.13."

"Why in the world do you want to make out a last will and testament?" demands Smuggles.

"Well," you reply, "everybody says if you don't make one out the government will take everything you own."

Smuggles sighs, calls in a typist, and a few minutes later hands you a copy of your will, which you sign and he has witnessed. It all takes up only a third of a page.

"What's your fee?"

"It is just $51.11," says Smuggles smiling bleakly.

As you fill out the check, you note that leaves you with just two cents in the world. But you leave with a feeling of sublime serenity. You have protected your will, and no government on earth can break it.

Homecoming Dates Are Set At Wellsville

The annual homecoming observance has been set for June 24-28 by the Wellsville fire department.

Chairmen of the event — John Jarvis, John Barnett and Lee Tice — announced today a contract has been signed with Smith Amusements of New Matamoras to provide eight rides—four for children and four for adults.

The parade will be held June 27 at 7 p. m. Those interested in entering a unit are to contact any of the chairmen, who pointed out that advance planning indicates the homecoming will be "the largest and best yet."

Couple Felled By Gas Fumes

A West End couple narrowly escaped death from inhalation of carbon monoxide fumes from an unvented gas heater at their home Wednesday, police reported.

George Collins, 58, and his wife, Mrs. Hazel Collins, 52, of 944 Fairview St. were treated at City Hospital after the husband phoned police headquarters while in a state of near unconsciousness, officers said.

Patrolman Ronald Brookes, desk officer at headquarters, received the call from a man who gave the address on Fairview St. "in a very weak voice." The officer was unable to understand the caller's message, but realized something was wrong. He dispatched Officer Karl W. Samples to investigate.

Samples said he found Collins "very weak, acting like he was unable to see and barely able to walk." Investigating further, he went upstairs and found Mrs. Collins in serious condition. She was delirious and vomiting.

Samples called for an ambulance. Patrolman Orin C. Smith also responded. The two officers called the fire department after detecting the odor of gas fumes, which they said came from an unvented heater.

The officers opened a door to help ventilate the home. The ambulance took the couple to the hospital, where they were treated and released.

Commercial Service In Year Or Two

New Model Picturephone Shown By Bell Company

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Bell Telephone Company unveiled Wednesday a new model picturephone, and a company executive said commercial service is only about a year or two away.

Henry Tunney, vice president of Bell Systems in Pennsylvania, said the picturephone set has been designed to fit into existing facilities.

The picturephone was demonstrated at the Westinghouse Electric Corp. headquarters. Forty experimental models will be tested over the next six months in Westinghouse offices in Pittsburgh and New York.

TUNNEY said that unless there are unexpected difficulties, the Westinghouse experimental model will be the one offered to the general public.

He said there are no manufacturing arrangements at present. But, he said, "I would guess we are a year or two away from a commercial operation."

American Telephone & Telegraph executive Breck Spinner said service charges would be about $100 a month. He said that would be the basic charge and there would be additional charges on each call.

The picturephone set looks like a very small portable television. It has a zoom lens device and can swivel around the room.

IT HAS four push button controls that enable the user to initiate or answer a picture or voice call; to see the picture he is sending out; to prevent his picture from being transmitted, and to end the call.

In the last few months of the Westinghouse trial, the sets will be linked into a computer that will allow executives to dial and see such information as inventory and stock market reports, sales charts and production schedules.

"I'm positively convinced 10 or 15 years from now we'll be able to sit at our breakfast tables and dial up our morning newspapers," Tunney said. "We'll be able to do our shopping and our banking from our homes. This could have as much impact on the telephone industry as the television has had on the radio industry after World War II."

TUNNEY said he was fairly confident that once commercial service for the general public begins it will start in either Pittsburgh or New York.

Bell Telephone has been experimenting with a picturephone device since the 1920s. The first public demonstration in the United States took place between Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover in Washington and AT&T President Walter S. Gifford in Bell Laboratories in New York.

In 1965 an earlier model of the picturephone was tested between Union Carbide Corp. offices in New York and Chicago. The Westinghouse model is based on what was learned from that test.

Child Guidance Talk Highlights Meeting Of PTA

Raymond Rolley, guidance counselor for the Wellsville School District, spoke during the meeting of the MacDonald School Parent - Teacher Organization Monday night in the all-purpose room.

His topic was "Child Guidance In the Elementary School." He was introduced by Mrs. Irene LaClair, vice president.

Plans were made to purchase a three - way red traffic signal for the school to be placed at 9th St.

John Mackov, principal, announced that registration for first - graders and kindergarten children will be held March 10-11 and a pre-school immunization clinic March 13.

The room count was won by Mrs. Christine Wilson's afternoon kindergarten.

Refreshments were served from a table decorated in a St. Valentine's theme by first grade and kindergarten homeroom mothers.

The next meeting will be March 3 in the school.

Alfred B. Nobel, in 1866, first successfully detonated dynamite.

Over 3,000 Of Foe Killed In One Week

SAIGON (AP) — Despite daily communiques reporting only light, scattered fighting, the number of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops killed last week exceeded 3,000 for the first time in four and a half months, according to the weekly casualty report from the U.S. and South Vietnamese commands.

A U.S. spokesman insisted that the total of 3,190 enemy soldiers reported killed last week was tabulated from body counts by troops in the field. It was the highest enemy toll since the week of Sept. 15-21, when 3,380 were reported killed.

The spokesman's explanation of the seeming inconsistency was one the U.S. Command has made repeatedly: There are hundreds of small clashes in which small numbers of enemy soldiers are killed, but these are not considered significant enough to report in the daily communiques.

In addition, some reports are delayed; for example, if enemy troops are killed in an air strike but their bodies are not found for several weeks, they are included in the total for the week in which they are found.

Also many of the enemy dead are killed by artillery and air strikes and the body count these counts frequently is done by aerial observers instead of by more accurate ground checks.

The total of American and South Vietnamese battle dead last week remained about what they had been for the previous three weeks 1:98 Americans and 242 government soldiers.

The U.S. Command also announced that an American UH1 helicopter supporting South Vietnamese infantrymen was shot down 44 miles east of Saigon Wednesday night and all four Americans aboard were killed. It was the 2,341st American helicopter lost in the war.

It's Christmas In February For Pueblo Crewman

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — It was Christmas in February for John A. Shilling, one of the released crew members of the USS Pueblo.

"It feels great, just great to be home," Shilling said as he got off an airliner at Cleveland Hopkins International Airport Wednesday night.

His mother Mrs. Mary Shilling of Auburn Corners in Geauga County, was there to meet him and said she wanted to take her son home where she had put up a Christmas tree.

Shilling, 22, a communications technician 2nd class, declined to talk about the inquiry now going into the capture of the Pueblo by North Korea.

His four-year enlistment was up last July and Shilling said he plans to come home as soon as the Navy releases him.

You Can't Take It With You

Last Will And Testament

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — There are few rites on earth more solemn than making out a last will and testament.

Everybody keeps warning you that you should do it, and sooner or later most people do. Here's how it sometimes operates.

You go into the law firm of Zincorn, Samllovitch, O'Brannigan and Smuggles and tell the receptionist you want to make out your will. She casts a dubious look at your frayed collar and scuffed shoes and suggests you see Mr. Smuggles.

Smuggles, it turns out, is the junior member of the firm—the son-in-law of Mr. Zincorn—and the ink on his law degree is still somewhat damp.

"Who would you like to serve as your executor?" asks Smuggles. When you suggest that he will do just fine, he smiles like three Cheshire cats. He pulls out a pad of large yellow paper and starts putting down the data.

"Do you own any real estate?" "Yeah, a cemetery lot."

"Well," says Smuggles tactfully, "perhaps you'll want to save that for yourself. Any bonds?"

"Nope."

"Any stock market investments?"

"Nope."

"What value do you place on your home?"

"You'll have to ask my landlord. It belongs to him."

"I see," says Smuggles, his smile beginning to fade. "How about your insurance?"

"Oh, that's already made out to mother. I think that's only fair, seeing as how she's been making the payments on it herself the last five years."

"H-m-m-m. Do you have any valuable collections of any kind?"

"You mean those seashells I picked up at Coney Island, or the collection of knots I keep in the basement which I tied when I was a kid to win my first Boy Scout merit badge?"

"Well, I guess we can forget those," says Smuggles, beginning to draw doodles on his pad. "How about your valuable personal possessions?"

"All I got is my old clothes and a varsity sweater I won for making my college wrestling squad. I thought I'd leave those to the Salvation Army—that is, if they think it's worth the trouble."

"How about your savings account?"

"What savings account?"

"Don't you have anything of value you want to leave to someone?"

"Yeah, I got a lot of free advice and—oh, yes, a $1 New York State lottery ticket that'll be worth $100,000 if I win."

"Don't you even have a checking account?"

"Yep, but right now it's down to $51.13."

"Why in the world do you want to make out a last will and testament?" demands Smuggles.

"Well," you reply, "everybody says if you don't make one out the government will take everything you own."

Smuggles sighs, calls in a typist, and a few minutes later hands you a copy of your will, which you sign and he has witnessed. It all takes up only a third of a page.

"What's your fee?"

"It is just $51.11," says Smuggles smiling bleakly.

As you fill out the check, you note that leaves you with just two cents in the world. But you leave with a feeling of sublime serenity. You have protected your will, and no government on earth can break it.

Would Intercept Enemy Bombers

Navy Starts To Develop New Carrier-Based Jet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Years behind and millions of dollars poorer, the Navy has started anew to develop a carrier-based jet fighter capable of intercepting enemy bombers attacking the fleet.

The Navy has failed in an expensive previous effort to build a fleet defender from the old TFX warplane design expected by former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to provide one basic plane that could be adopted by all services.

That was the F111B aircraft, started in 1962 and canceled last year when it proved unable to meet Navy specifications for carrier operations.

Pentagon figures show the Navy spent $216.5 million on developing the F111B.

With little fanfare, the Navy announced Tuesday that Grumman Aircraft, builder of a few test models of the F111B, was getting a four year, $928 million award for preproduction planning on a new job called the F-14.

Like the ill-fated F111B, the F14 or VFX as it was called in initial paperwork, will have a swing wing and a fancy new missile system for its intercept mission.

Once the F14 research and development is completed, the Navy plans to pick up an option to build 463 models at a cost estimated officially at $7.3 million each—or over $3.3 billion in all.

The F111B failed to serve Navy purposes because, among other things, it weighed too much—more than 80,000 pounds —which made it cumbersome for movement around carriers and too sluggish for its interceptor role.

To avert the excess weight problems this time, a Grumman representative told a newsman, the company plans to keep the F14 weight below 60,000 pounds, mainly through use of the lightweight but powerful titanium, the expensive new metal that McNamara refused to authorize for the F111 series.

In spite of its failure, the Navy plans to build on the F111B in perfecting a successor.

The F14 will have the same swing-wing which can be swept back for supersonic flight or extended almost at right angles to the fuselage for slow, easy landings on short carrier decks.

Like the F111B, the F14 will be equipped with a version of the Phoenix missle, an advanced weapon which will be the key to the defense of Navy carriers in the 1970's.

To make sure the F14 fares better than the F111B, Congress took a very close look this time to see that the Navy is on the right track.

Grumman was announced in January as producer of the new Navy carrier-based plane, and the contract was supposed to have been signed last week.

At the last minute, however, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird reported the House Appropriations Committee wanted a second look at the records.

Monday, after additional study of Navy officers' testimony, the committee's doubts apparently were resolved and Laird was freed to grant the F14 contract to Grumman.

As the F14 program proceeds, two remaining F111 series aircraft are suffering technical and financial problems.

The Air Forces' tactical fighter version—the F111A—is undergoing repairs for failure of an internal box-like structure around which its swing - wing operates.

The Air Force sent eight F111As to Southeast Asia last year for combat trials in Vietnam, but three crashed and the squadron recently was recalled to the United States.

In all, nine F111As crashed in two years of Air Force tests and training flights.

The Air Forces' strategic bomber version, the FB111, has had little technical difficulty, but has encountered some rough going financially.

Rep. Flannery Raps Jump's Appointment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Rep. James Flannery, D-48 Cleveland, said Wednesday that the appointment of Harry V. Jump as deputy insurance superintendent "makes as little sense as having a fox to guard the chickens."

Flannery asked Gov. James A. Rhodes to withdraw his appointment of Jump saying, "appointing the owner of an insurance agency to a regulatory position in the insurance department is a clear-cut case of conflict of interest."

With Little Fanfare

Taft 'Eases' Into One Of Top 9 Posts In House

WASHINGTON (AP) — With little fanfare, Rep. Robert Taft Jr. has eased into one of the Republican Party's nine leadership jobs in the House.

The silence of the move was unusual, compared with the 1963 entry into national politics of Taft, grandson of a president and son of "Mr Republican," the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Taft, himself, speaks bemusedly of his quiet climb to power.

"One factor was that my Ohio colleagues felt a little bitter that with the biggest Republican delegation of any state, none of them had been considered for a leadership position. So I had strong support from them."

Chance played a part, too, in Taft's being selected by the House Republican Conference as chairman of the group's research committee. His major opponent was Rep. Don Rumsfeld of Illinois—a state which has two members in the official House leadership.

"I got into the fight at the last moment," Taft told a reporter.

"I got back in this country from a fact-finding mission to the Far East on Jan. 5 and found the party hadn't resolved who would be chairman of the research committee. It was a close race and I got it by only two votes.

"The question of whether the chairman would be part of the official leader in the House won easily, by 88-33."

Before Taft ran for the chairmanship, however, the party wrangled over whether to allow the committee to continue.

"An ad hoc committee was set up to determine if the research committee should be continued. Some members felt it should not be," he said.

The research committee was formed by those GOP congressmen who felt they had little voice in their party's direction and had felt frustrated after the Republicans' crushing defeat in the presidential 1964 race. It was used, in Taft's words, "to do positive image and policy building."

With a Republican in the White House, many felt there was no need for a group geared to voice opposition views.

Finally, it was agreed the committee could continue—but with closer ties to the party leadership in the House. One tighter link was to make the committee's chairman part of the official leadership. Another was to assign all eight other leaders to membership on the committee.

The result was to pull the committee, and along with it Taft, who is serving his third nonconsecutive House term, into the republican circle of power in the House.

2 Bound Over For Entering Newell Store

Two former California residents were bound over to the April term of the Hancock County Grand Jury following hearings Wednesday before Squire Eugene Allison of Chester on breaking and entering charges. Jane E. Doggett, 22, who list Harrison St., Newell addresses, were arrested early Monday morning by Hancock deputies following a breaking and entering at Herche's Drugstore on Washington St., Newell. A small amount of barbituates was found on the pair and identified by Harry Comm, proprietor of the pharmacy, as coming from the store.

Bond for the two was reduced to $500.

Only Two Special Issues Filed To Date For May 6

Only two special issues have been filed to date with the County Election Board for a place on the ballot at the May 6 primaries.

Salem will vote on a half-mill current expense levy that would bring in about $21,000 a year. It is designed to replace a levy of the same amount recently ruled invalid in Common Pleas Court. The money would be earmarked for parks and recreation and would be allocated to the City Park Commission. If approved, it would go into effect Jan. 1 for five years.

The Southern Local School District will vote on a $160,000 bond issue to finance an addition to its high school building.

The funds would be used for construction of six new classrooms on the east side of the south wing of the school. A resolution enacted by the board of Education said a 1.2-mill levy would be required to retire the bonds over a 16-year period.

Both the Salem and Southern Local issues technically are special elections to be held on the same date as the primary.

Since there will be no primary in the Southern Local area, the board of education will be required to pay the entire cost of the balloting.

Proceedings Of The Court

Common Pleas

NEW ENTRIES

Margaret S. Shields vs. Terry L. Shields; parties reconciled, case dismissed.

Helen Fraser vs. Joseph H. Fraser; agreed entry modifying former order submitted and approved.

Janis R. Kistner vs. Larry L. Kistner; temporary custody of minor child awarded plaintiff; defendant ordered to pay $50 per month toward support during pendency.

Life Loses Its Zest

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Life for Grandma Ball has lost its zest because at 77, she's had to give up riding her motorbike.

No more the thrill of the quick kick-start and the ear - splitting roar down the superhighway.

Mrs. Ball — Florrie to her friends — ran into trouble when she tried to change insurance companies. No new one would take her on. And her old one wouldn't take her back.

Mrs. Ball, 4 feet 10 inches and a mere 84 pounds, said:

"I can ride as well as any youngster and I don't ride all that fast.

"I love the fresh air. A car's just not the same."

County Realtors Set Dinner Event

SALEM — The Columbiana County Board of Realtors will hold its monthly dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Timberlanes, with Bruce Herron of Salem, president, in charge.

Realtors will discuss the effect of increased VA and FHA interest rates on their business and how greater cooperation among members means more commission dollars. Realtor Donald H. Stafford of East Rochester will speak.

Reservations are due by Monday noon with Herron or Clyde M. Tschantz, secretary, in Lisbon.

Taft 'Eases' Into One Of Top 9 Posts In House

WASHINGTON (AP) — With little fanfare, Rep. Robert Taft Jr. has eased into one of the Republican Party's nine leadership jobs in the House.

The silence of the move was unusual, compared with the 1963 entry into national politics of Taft, grandson of a president and son of "Mr Republican," the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Taft, himself, speaks bemusedly of his quiet climb to power.

"One factor was that my Ohio colleagues felt a little bitter that with the biggest Republican delegation of any state, none of them had been considered for a leadership position. So I had strong support from them."

Chance played a part, too, in Taft's being selected by the House Republican Conference as chairman of the group's research committee. His major opponent was Rep. Don Rumsfeld of Illinois—a state which has two members in the official House leadership.

"I got into the fight at the last moment," Taft told a reporter.

"I got back in this country from a fact-finding mission to the Far East on Jan. 5 and found the party hadn't resolved who would be chairman of the research committee. It was a close race and I got it by only two votes.

"The question of whether the chairman would be part of the official leader in the House won easily, by 88-33."

Before Taft ran for the chairmanship, however, the party wrangled over whether to allow the committee to continue.

"An ad hoc committee was set up to determine if the research committee should be continued. Some members felt it should not be," he said.

The research committee was formed by those GOP congressmen who felt they had little voice in their party's direction and had felt frustrated after the Republicans' crushing defeat in the presidential 1964 race. It was used, in Taft's words, "to do positive image and policy building."

With a Republican in the White House, many felt there was no need for a group geared to voice opposition views.

Finally, it was agreed the committee could continue—but with closer ties to the party leadership in the House. One tighter link was to make the committee's chairman part of the official leadership. Another was to assign all eight other leaders to membership on the committee.

The result was to pull the committee, and along with it Taft, who is serving his third nonconsecutive House term, into the republican circle of power in the House.

2 Bound Over For Entering Newell Store

Two former California residents were bound over to the April term of the Hancock County Grand Jury following hearings Wednesday before Squire Eugene Allison of Chester on breaking and entering charges. Jane E. Doggett, 22, who list Harrison St., Newell addresses, were arrested early Monday morning by Hancock deputies following a breaking and entering at Herche's Drugstore on Washington St., Newell. A small amount of barbituates was found on the pair and identified by Harry Comm, proprietor of the pharmacy, as coming from the store.

Bond for the two was reduced to $500.

Only Two Special Issues Filed To Date For May 6

Only two special issues have been filed to date with the County Election Board for a place on the ballot at the May 6 primaries.

Salem will vote on a half-mill current expense levy that would bring in about $21,000 a year. It is designed to replace a levy of the same amount recently ruled invalid in Common Pleas Court. The money would be earmarked for parks and recreation and would be allocated to the City Park Commission. If approved, it would go into effect Jan. 1 for five years.

The Southern Local School District will vote on a $160,000 bond issue to finance an addition to its high school building.

The funds would be used for construction of six new classrooms on the east side of the south wing of the school. A resolution enacted by the board of Education said a 1.2-mill levy would be required to retire the bonds over a 16-year period.

Both the Salem and Southern Local issues technically are special elections to be held on the same date as the primary.

Since there will be no primary in the Southern Local area, the board of education will be required to pay the entire cost of the balloting.

Proceedings Of The Court

Common Pleas

NEW ENTRIES

Margaret S. Shields vs. Terry L. Shields; parties reconciled, case dismissed.

Helen Fraser vs. Joseph H. Fraser; agreed entry modifying former order submitted and approved.

Life Loses Its Zest

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Life for Grandma Ball has lost its zest because at 77, she's had to give up riding her motorbike.

No more the thrill of the quick kick-start and the ear - splitting roar down the superhighway.

Mrs. Ball — Florrie to her friends — ran into trouble when she tried to change insurance companies. No new one would take her on. And her old one wouldn't take her back.

Mrs. Ball, 4 feet 10 inches and a mere 84 pounds, said:

"I can ride as well as any youngster and I don't ride all that fast.

"I love the fresh air. A car's just not the same."

Iodine and milk of magnesia are being extracted from sea water.

County Realtors Set Dinner Event

SALEM — The Columbiana County Board of Realtors will hold its monthly dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Timberlanes, with Bruce Herron of Salem, president, in charge.

Realtors will discuss the effect of increased VA and FHA interest rates on their business and how greater cooperation among members means more commission dollars. Realtor Donald H. Stafford of East Rochester will speak.

Reservations are due by Monday noon with Herron or Clyde M. Tschantz, secretary, in Lisbon.

At the present time, the earth's climate is far more rigorous and marked by greater extremes of heat and cold than it has been for the last 500 million years.

Strikebreakers Measure Okayed By W. Va. House

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — The West Virginia House of Delegates approved 80-17 Wednesday a bill designed to curb the use of professional strikebreakers.

Approval of the measure came after some two hours of debate in which five attempts were made to amend the bill from the floor. Only two of the amendments were adopted, the others failed by a lopsided vote.

Minority Leader George Seibert Jr., R-Ohio, proposed one amendment to restrict pickets at a struck plant to present or former employes. It was approved 50-47.

He said the amendment would put the bill in a form making it illegal to "bring outsiders in on either side."

Provisions of the proposal, which has been sent to the Senate, make it unlawful for third parties not directly involved in an authorized strike to recruit or advertise for persons to take the place of striking employes.

Penalties for violations of the proposed law range up to a $1,000 fine and one year in the county jail.

ANN LANDERS

Forgives And Forgets

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'm still stunned by the letter from the woman who stumbled over her husband and her sister in the back yard at 5 a.m.

It was so much like my problem 13 years ago. Only it wasn't my sister, it was my mother. Your advice was excellent and I hope the woman who wrote to you takes it.

My mother was twice divorced. When I caught her with my husband she was "between husbands," drinking heavily and very mixed up. I was shocked and broken-hearted. The two people I loved most in the world had betrayed me. How could they?

I prayed for courage and compassion and my prayers were answered. I vowed never to mention the ugly incident again and I kept my word. My husband has kept his word, too. He has devoted his life to making me happy. He's a loyal and loving mate. Our marriage is a good one.

My mother is now married to No. 3 and we're on friendly terms. I'm glad now that I closed no doors. For had I done so, I would have been on the outside. — BEEN THERE TOO.

Dear B. T.: Your courage and selflessness paid off. Heartiest congratulations.

Invisible Lines

Dear Ann: Did you know that God is a Negro, a Catholic and a Democrat? Well, neither did we until tonight.

Our neighbors just left — but not before they spelled it all out. We expressed some surprise at this allegation and were told, "It's all there in the Bible." When we asked, "Where in the Bible?" we were advised to "read between the lines."

Please check with your authorities, Ann, and let us know if they can produce any evidence to substantiate this astonishing statement. Thank you. — WILLING TO LEARN.

Dear Willing: I'm willing, too. Ask your neighbors between WHICH lines — and I'll look there, too.

Lucky Mom

Dear Ann: Our 19-year-old son is in the service, stationed 700 miles away. Every Sunday he telephones and I live for those calls. Our phone bill is pretty high, of course, because he calls collect.

My husband raises a fuss every time the phone bill comes. I've told him I can't think of a way I'd rather spend the money. He says, "The boy should be just as glad to hear our voices as we are to hear his."

Soon our son will be leaving for Vietnam. I get sick thinking about it. Am I the only "foolish" parent in the world who thinks it is all right to "throw out money on nonsense?" Please tell me. — "SPENDTHRIFT" MOTHER.

Dear Mother: There are 30,000 sets of parents in this country who would give everything they own to hear their son's voice again, but they never will. Please hand this column to your husband.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Satin Pillows Prove Hit

DEAR HELOISE: Putting a nylon slip over the pillow at night to keep from messing up a fancy hair-do was good. But here's my solution for keeping my hair style in place at night without using the usual nets, crepe paper, tissues, etc., etc.

Heloise

Buy one yard of satin and make a pillowcase to sleep on.

FANNY.

Some ideas that come in are pretty wild and I wondered if this would work as well as a nylon slip. But satin IS smooth . . . and I'm willing to try any idea.

So I made a pair of pillowcases from some beautiful pink satin. They are very cool and slick as an ice pond.

They work great. When I toss and turn at night, my hair slides with me and needs very little fixing the next morning.

So our deep appreciation and thanks to Fanny for tipping us off to her idea.

Those of you who do have an old satin evening dress that's way out of style, why don't you think of ripping it up and making a couple of pillowcases.

And after all, why shouldn't deserving housewives sleep on satin?

If you don't have any satin around the house that you want to use for this, buy just enough for one pillowcase at the remnant counter next time you go to the store. You'll love it.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: My husband has some wash-and-wear trousers that were always sliding off the hanger rod.

I bought a thin sheet of foam rubber, cut it into two-inch-wide strips, and taped them over the cardboard on the bottom of the hanger.

Now the trousers don't slide or fall off the hangers and the foam strips are enough cushion to prevent sharp creasds.

MRS. SOLOMON SEIBEL.

DEAR HELOISE: To me, oven-fried chicken is an easy and tasty dish. But making really delicisous gravy from it has been something else.

Keeping the chicken warm while the crust was scraped, fat poured off, and liquid added — then stirring and stirring used to take lots of extra time.

NOW, I FREEZE the crust and grease from the time before. I just get this out of the freezer and fix the gravy while the chicken and other food is cooking! Everything is hot and ready at the same time.

LOLLY.

DEAR GALS: Next time you're trying to turn a belt after sewing it together . . . instead of using those infernal scissors, go get the biggest screwdriver in the tool chest. It turns that belt like magic without punching holes in it.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I had trouble storing my kettle covers. So I found a heavy carton just the right width for the largest lid and stacked them standing on edge according to size, with the smallest in front.

I have a shelf in the stove and now I can pull the box out easily and take out the lid I want. No more hunting and shuffling.

PEARL T. WELCH.

DEAR HELOISE: Never throw old tooth brushes away. Wet or dry they are so useful.

When scrubbing the floor, keep one in your pail for cleaning in corners, under the wall radiators, and around the feet of the stove and refrigerator.

Soldier Testifies During Hearing In Fraud Action

LISBON — The prosecution used the deposition of a Salem soldier Wednesday in Common Pleas Court to support a fraud charge against Larry Whitcomb, 22, of 758 Superior Ave., Salem.

The defendant is accused of making a false auto theft report Sept. 14 to collect funds from an insurance company. He is expected to present his defense today.

In the deposition taken Jan. 2 at the Courthouse in preparation for the Grand Jury, Pvt. William Smith Jr., 19, of 1097 N. Ellsworth, now in military police school at Ft. Gordon, Ga., said Whitcomb arranged with him to have the car stolen and damaged "so the insurance company would total it."

"We had stolen other cars and stripped them for parts and he had found out about it," Smith said.

Smith testified Whitcomb told him things were starting to go wrong with his 1964 Rambler American convertible, that he couldn't keep up the payments and he thought he could buy another car if he could collect insurance on the convertible.

The soldier said the details were arranged between him and Whitcomb the afternoon before the theft, which took place about 2 a. m.

He then reviewed the disposition of the cars.

On the jury sworn in Wednesday by Judge Joel H. Sharp are Florence Newman, Rosalyn Caplan, Thelma Stewart and Fayson E. Miller, Salem; Clifford Eyster, Washingtonvlle; Glen L. Eckert, Columbiana; Ardyth Bricker, East Palestine, and Dennis Smith, Nellie P. Taylor, Louise Pitts, Ethel Thorne and Lorraine Young, East Liverpool. Raymond G. Borger, East Liverpool, is the alternate.

They were Army S. Sgt. John D. Freppon, Cincinnati; Spec. 4 Stephen R. Kutschbach, rural Chillcothe, and Marine Lance Cpl. Richard A. Moore, Madison.

The fourth man, Marine Lance Cpl. Steven L. Leach of Bellbrook, died of causes not resulting from hostile action.

Amvit Lists Appointments

CLEVELAND — Two executive appointments have been announced for the Amvit Corp.

Harold E. Whatley is the new president of the Amvit Division and vice president of the corporation and John C. Monday is the new vice president of the corporation.

The appointments were made public by John T. Jackson, chairman and president of the corporation.

Amvit Corp. is a new corporate indentity formed from the Jan. 2 merger of the American Vitrified Products Co. here and the Southwest Fabricating and Welding Co. of Houston, Tex. Amvit Corp. is a subsidiary of the International Utilities Corp.

Jackson pointed out that though the name of the merged corporations will be Amvit Corp., each of the companies will continue operations as separate divisions.

The Amvit Division has experienced steady growth since its inception in 1848 to its present position as a leading manufacturer of vitrified clay products.

The company is now the largest supplier of vitrified clay products in the northeastern section of the U.S. Clay pipe plants are located in Brazil and Crawfordsville, Indiana; East Liverpool and Uhrichsville, Ohio; Whitehall, Illinois, and Somerville, New Jersey. Concrete pipe is manufactured in Duarte, Calif., for distribution in southern California.

Southwest Fabricating & Welding, with plants in Houston and Baton Rouge, La., manufactures prefabricated processing piping, pressure vessels, heat exchangers, cryogenic vessels and material handling equipment primarily for the petroleum, chemical and power industries.

Decision Favors Steubenville's Club On Liquor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state liquor department was prohibited Wednesday by the Franklin County Common Pleas Court from withdrawing the liquor permit of the Steubenville Country Club.

Judge Alba Whteside granted the club's request for a restraining order pending a hearing in the case.

The club and 71 other Ohio permit holders were given 30 days' notice Jan. 22 by Donald D. Cook, Ohio liquor director, that their permits will be withdrawn.

His action came following a decision by the Ohio Supreme Court, ruling that annexation does not alter the wet or dry status of an area.

This means that if an area was dry before annexation, it would remain dry following annexation, unless there were a local option election to change its status.

In its petition for the restraining order, the Steubenville club claimed it has held its permit for more than 30 years and there has been no local option election held there during that time.

The first prison for young offenders in the United States to be called a reformatory was opened at Elmira, N. Y., in 1876, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

The DOCTOR Says

Q—Will massaging help the poor circulation in my feet? What is the best way to do it and how often?

Dr. Brandstadt

A — Massaging will help only if swelling of your ankles has resulted from poor circulation. The massaging should be gentle, with the pressure always carried toward the heart. It may be continued for 10 to 30 minutes, three or four times a day, if it seems to help you.

Q — Is it harmful or beneficial to lie down several times a day with my feet elevated above my head?

A — It is not harmful and, if you have any swelling in your ankles, this can be very beneficial.

Q—My doctor says I have an enlarged heart. What causes this? I am taking digitoxin. What is it for?

A—The chief cause of an enlarged heart is a leaky valve, usually the result of rheumatic heart disease. Other causes are chronic high blood pressure and emphysema. Digitoxin is a derivative of digitalis. It is given to strengthen the contractions of your heart.

Q—A chest X ray showed that I have an enlarged heart. My doctor says I have hypertensive cardiovascular disease. Is it dangerous?

A—This is enlargement due to chronic high blood pressure. It is dangerous only if prompt steps are not taken to control the pressure and strengthen the heart.

Q — My husband was told he has an aortic condition. Should he stop working? Should he see a heart specialist?

A — Your husband may have a leaky aortic valve, an aortic aneurysm (outpouching) or hardening of the aorta. Whether or not he should stop working should depend on the severity of his disease and the nature of his work. A heart specialist would be the best person to make this decision.

Q — What could cause me to be short of breath, have a heavy feeling around my heart and suffer from indigestion?

A — Shortness of breath may be caused by valvular heart disease, bloating severe enough to press on your heart and lungs, bronchial asthma or emphysema. Your other symptoms may be associated with any of these causes. When your doctor discovers the true cause, he should be able to help you find relief.

Arter Building Work Launched

LISBON — Dust that had been accumulating for 150 years drifted onto the Square Tuesday as Dean Rose, local contractor, began tearing out the inside of the Arter Building at N. Market St. and N. Park Ave.

The three-story red brick building was constructed in 1810 and was the birthplace in 1837 of Marcus A. Hanna, the Cleveland industrialist often called "the maker of presidents."

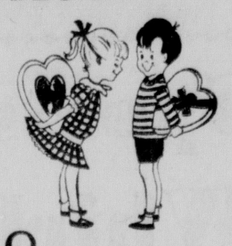

The Arter harness shop was located on the first floor for many years and well into this century.

Rose already has installed fixed shutters on the third floor windows. He said he plans to build offices on the first floor and apartments on the second. The bricks will be sandblasted and the building's original appearance will be retained as much as possible, Rose said.

Plaster of paris was given that name because extensive deposits of gypsum, from which it is made, are found in the Paris Basin of France.

ANN LANDERS

Forgives And Forgets

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'm still stunned by the letter from the woman who stumbled over her husband and her sister in the back yard at 5 a.m.

It was so much like my problem 13 years ago. Only it wasn't my sister, it was my mother. Your advice was excellent and I hope the woman who wrote to you takes it.

My mother was twice divorced. When I caught her with my husband she was "between husbands," drinking heavily and very mixed up. I was shocked and broken-hearted. The two people I loved most in the world had betrayed me. How could they?

I prayed for courage and compassion and my prayers were answered. I vowed never to mention the ugly incident again and I kept my word. My husband has kept his word, too. He has devoted his life to making me happy. He's a loyal and loving mate. Our marriage is a good one.

My mother is now married to No. 3 and we're on friendly terms. I'm glad now that I closed no doors. For had I done so, I would have been on the outside. — BEEN THERE TOO.

Dear B. T.: Your courage and selflessness paid off. Heartiest congratulations.

Invisible Lines

Dear Ann: Did you know that God is a Negro, a Catholic and a Democrat? Well, neither did we until tonight.

Our neighbors just left — but not before they spelled it all out. We expressed some surprise at this allegation and were told, "It's all there in the Bible." When we asked, "Where in the Bible?" we were advised to "read between the lines."

Please check with your authorities, Ann, and let us know if they can produce any evidence to substantiate this astonishing statement. Thank you. — WILLING TO LEARN.

Dear Willing: I'm willing, too. Ask your neighbors between WHICH lines — and I'll look there, too.

Lucky Mom

Dear Ann: Our 19-year-old son is in the service, stationed 700 miles away. Every Sunday he telephones and I live for those calls. Our phone bill is pretty high, of course, because he calls collect.

My husband raises a fuss every time the phone bill comes. I've told him I can't think of a way I'd rather spend the money. He says, "The boy should be just as glad to hear our voices as we are to hear his."

Soon our son will be leaving for Vietnam. I get sick thinking about it. Am I the only "foolish" parent in the world who thinks it is all right to "throw out money on nonsense?" Please tell me. — "SPENDTHRIFT" MOTHER.

Dear Mother: There are 30,000 sets of parents in this country who would give everything they own to hear their son's voice again, but they never will. Please hand this column to your husband.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Satin Pillows Prove Hit

DEAR HELOISE: Putting a nylon slip over the pillow at night to keep from messing up a fancy hair-do was good. But here's my solution for keeping my hair style in place at night without using the usual nets, crepe paper, tissues, etc., etc.

Heloise

Buy one yard of satin and make a pillowcase to sleep on.

It's fantastic. Not a hair out of place come morning.

Some ideas that come in are pretty wild and I wondered if this would work as well as a nylon slip. But satin IS smooth . . . and I'm willing to try any idea.

Potters Host Salem Friday In Biggest Game Of Year

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE

Review Sports Editor

Bevo Francis is in the news again.

The former Wellsville and Rio Grande College basketball scoring machine, now a resident of the Southern Local district, holds the all-time college single-game scoring record with 113 points against Hillsdale (Mich.) on Feb. 2, 1954, 15 years ago Sunday.

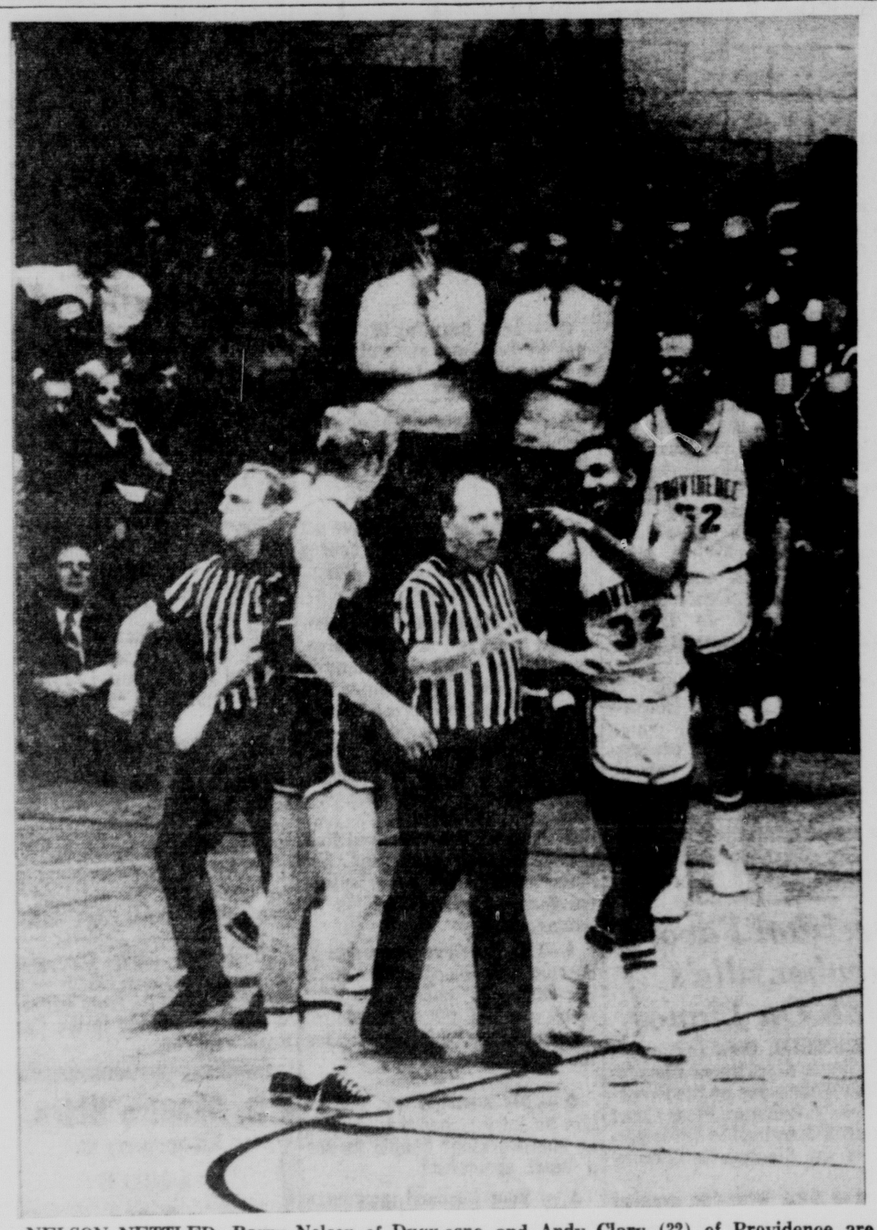

Recently, Newt Oliver, who coached Francis at Wellsville and Rio Grande, asked officials of the basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass., if they would like to have the ball used by Bevo in that contest. The answer was "Yes" and the ball is on its way. Oliver, a businessman in Springfield, Ohio, has kept the game ball since 1954.

WAYNE'S 5 of Wellsville has taken over third place in the Toronto Lions Bowling Tournament with a 3,030 score. Village Lanes of Salineville, last week's leader has dropped to eighth. Wayne Elliott of Wellsville has the high men's series so far with a 632.

MATTY ALOU won the batting championship of the Puerto Rican League with a .390 average. Manny Mota, Alou's teammate on the Pirates last season, was second at .367. Manny Jimenez, another 1968 Buc, hit .310. Mota and Jimenez will not be with the Pirates in 1969, as Mota went in the expansion draft and Jimenez was traded. Vic Davalillo, former Indian, hit .339 in the Venezuelan League.

EAST LIVERPOOL is ranked 11th among high school basketball teams in the state in the UPI poll as well as the AP poll. Bellaire St. John's is tied for 31st, Salem is tied for 45th and Warren Western Reserve tied for 48th.

The polls continue to show a remarkable similarity, with Euclid in the Top 10 according to the UPI instead of Canton Lehman according to the AP, the only notable difference.

Locals Seek Revenge

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

In some ways, the East Liverpool High basketball season so far this year has been a preliminary.

But Friday comes the main event, when the Potters host Salem in the new gym.

Ever since last season, when the Potters lost at Salem 35-32, the members of the East Liverpool team have wanted revenge. The loss was the lone one for the Potters in the regular season, snapping an 11-game winning streak, and it cost the Potters outright possession of the Big 8 basketball title.

Salem and East Liverpool shared the league title last year with 5-1 marks.

In addition, Salem is the only county team on the East Liverpool schedule, and through the years has been one of its bitterest rivals.

But while the Potters have the desire to beat Salem this time, and also the talent, the Quakers will be no easy foe. Veteran coach John Cabas has guided his team to a 12-3 record, with a 4-1 mark in Big 8 play. A Potter win would clinch the title for East Liverpool, while a Salem win would clinch them a tie, with a shot for the whole thing if Niles upset East Liverpool next week.

Salem has lost to Dayton Roth 83-63, to Boardman 66-62 and Alliance 64-60 at Alliance. Wins have come over Cardinal Mooney 79-59, Girard 61-29, Canton Timken 56-55, Struthers 60-57, Barberton 70-49, Columbus Walnut Ridge 81-56, Campbell Memorial 84-48, Ravenna 62-42, Wellsville 77-44, Niles 66-47, Warren Harding 57-55 and Warren Western Reserve 71-61.

The Potters have also beaten the two Warren teams and Barberton, as well as Alliance.

The smallest Quaker is the biggest gun. George Spack, only 5-5, is averaging 21 points a game. Scott Cody, 5-7, is the other half of the backcourt. Larry Hrvatin, 6-3, plays center and averages 13 points a game. He had the flu over the weekend but is expected to be ready.

The cornermen are 6-4 Mark Equizi and 6-3 Jim King. Spack, Cody and Equizi all started last year and the others are experienced. Tom Fisher, 6-0, is the top reserve. The Quakers play a man-to-man defense and don't shoot indiscriminately, hence last year's low score.

Starter Bill Montgomery and key sub Tom Chambers suffered mildly sprained ankles in practice Tuesday, but are expected to be ready Friday. Dan Cunningham, who sat out the Alliance game due to a broken nose, is also expected to be ready to go. Jerry Christian, Steve Douglas, John Johnson and Rick Steffen, the other main members of the Potter cast, are ready.

Coach Clint McConnell expects a tough battle from Salem, but is confident the Potters are equal to the task of beating the Quakers.

LaSalle Tops Lafayette, Meets Villanova Next

The Explorers of La Salle, having captured No. 9, have their sights set on No. 8 in an attempt to rise above No. 7.

Translation: La Salle, ranked seventh in The Associated Press college basketball poll, tied the school record of nine straight regular season victories by whomping Lafayette 97-65 Wednesday night and setting up Saturday night's big meeting with eighth-ranked Villanova.

Actually, the 1954-55 team won 13 in a row, but the last four came in the postseason NCAA Tournament.

Wednesday night's triumph gave Tom Gola, who led La Salle to its greatest heights in the mid-1950s, a 17-1 mark in his rookie season as coach. Larry Cannon was high scorer with 29 points and 6-foot-7 sophomore Ken Durret had 20, 18 of them in the second half.

The only other teams in the Top Twenty to see action were 11th-ranked Tulsa, which turned back St. Louis 80-66; No. 15 Duquesne, a 78-71 winner over Providence, and 16th-rated New Mexico State, which walloped Hardin-Simmons 103-78.

Rob Washington and Ron Carson set personal scoring highs of 34 and 24 points, respectively, in Tulsa's victory over pesky St. Louis. The win gave the Golden Hurricane record of 17-2 and a school record of nine straight Missouri Valley Conference victories.

Duquesne trailed 38-36 at halftime against stubborn Providence but rallied in the second half behind 6-9 Gary Major and Jarrett Durham. Major paced the comeback while Durham scored a game high 30 points and sank six clutch free throws in the final three minutes.

New Mexco State, which lost a pair to arch-rival New Mexico last week after 16 straight wins, found Hardin-Simmons more to its liking and whipped the Cowboys for the second night in a row. Sam Lacey popped in 23 points and the other four starters also scored in double figures.

Drake's Dolph Pulliam held high-scoring Aaron Jenkins to 12 points and scored 20 himself in a 94-71 rout of Iowa State.

Bob Arnzen, playing with a bruised tendon, made DePaul hurt even more. He scored 31 points and grabbed 23 rebounds as Notre Dame downed the Blue Demons 85-73.

Miami of Ohio held onto first place in the Mid-American Conference with an 83-55 rout of Marshall behind George Burkhart's sharpshooting. In another Mid-American contest, Gerald McKee scored 36 points but Ohio University needed a late free throw by Craig Love to send the game into overtime and enable the Bobcats to post a 98-95 victory over Toledo.

Four Tied For Top Spot In Hope Golf

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — As defending champion Arnold Palmer put it, the Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic is an enjoyable stop on the winter tour.

At least 46 of the field of 136 professionals agreed after whacking par around in the first round. They could only hope the fun continued through the second round of the marathon, 90-hole tournament today.

Four pros shared the lead after one round—U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino, veteran Gene Littler and two young guys, Marty Fleckman and Tom Shaw.

They were five under par with first round 67s but the field in the par was as bunched as a stalk of bananas.

The Hope show of golf is played on four desert courses. Each has par 36-36—72. The relative merits of each are debatable, and debated they are by the resident members.

Two of the stars, Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, played Bermuda Dunes in par 72, with Billy Casper one stroke in front.

One stroke back of the leaders were seven dark-horses—Ken Still, Jim Ferrier, Jim Wiechers, Joel Goldstrand, Buddy Sullivan, Jim Colbert and England's Tony Jacklin.

Two 49ers Honored

Ernie Stautner Among 5 Elected To Grid 'Hall'

CANTON — One of pro football's top performers in the 1930s, the coach who masterminded the rise of the Philadelphia Eagles in the 1940s, and three super-stars, of the 1950s and early 1960s have been elected to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio, director Dick Gallagher announced today.

The five new enshrinees, who will join 54 other all-time pro greats in induction ceremonies during the "Football's Greatest Weekend" celebration in Canton in September, are Albert Glen (Turk) Edwards, Earle (Greasy) Neale, Leo Nomellini, Joe Perry and Ernie Stautner.

Edwards was a standout tackle and later a coach with the Washington Redskins while Neale piloted the Eagles from 1941 through 1950. Perry was a superb fullback for 16 seasons, most of them with the San Francisco 49ers. Nomellini, another 49er and Stautner, a career-long member of the Pittsburgh Steelers, both specialized as defensive tackles and spent an identical 14 seasons, from 1950 until 1963, terrorizing enemy offensive efforts.

Stautner, like Nomellini, played with just one club. Many consider this two-fisted ex-Marine to be the best all-around player ever to perform for the Pittsburgh club. A native of Bavaria and an all-America collegiate choice at Boston College, Stautner, like Nomellini, filled in some on the offensive line early in his career and then wound up as a defensive powerhouse.

From 1953 until 1962, he missed only one Pro Bowl game and he won that game's Best Lineman Award in 1957. A many-time all-NFL selection, Stautner appears in the NFL record book twice — tied for the most safeties scored in a lifetime, 3, and with 21 fumbles recovered in his career, third highest in NFL annals.

Stautner is one of two of the new enshrinees still actively associated in pro football. He serves as defensive line coach of the Dallas Cowboys while Perry is an assistant coach and game scout for the 49ers.

Bobby Cremins, 6-foot-2 Bronx, N. Y., athlete, captains South Carolina's basketball team.

Potters Host Salem Friday In Biggest Game Of Year

Sports Whirled

Bevo Francis is in the news again.

The former Wellsville and Rio Grande College basketball scoring machine, now a resident of the Southern Local district, holds the all-time college single-game scoring record with 113 points against Hillsdale (Mich.) on Feb. 2, 1954, 15 years ago Sunday.

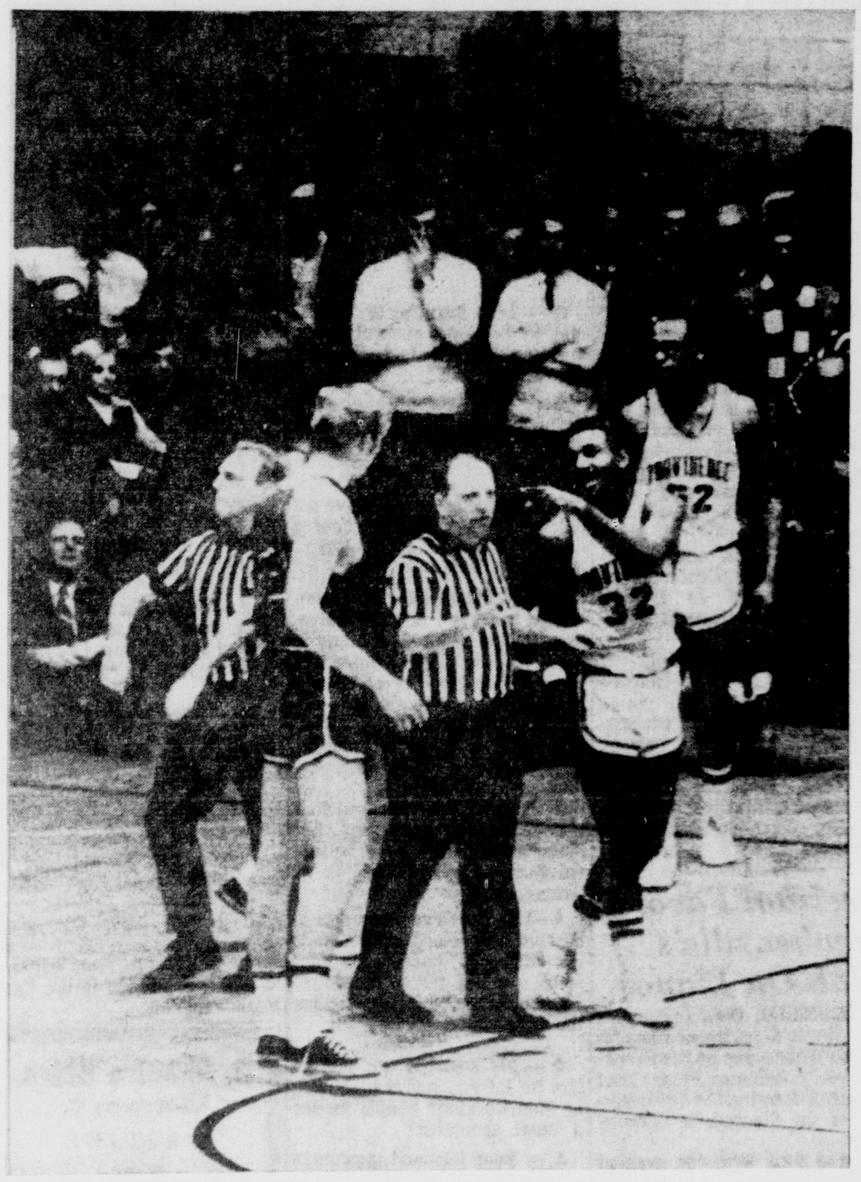

Recently, Newt Oliver, who coached Francis at Wellsville and Rio Grande, asked officials of the basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass., if they would like to have the ball used by Bevo in that contest. The answer was "Yes" and the ball is on its way. Oliver, a businessman in Springfield, Ohio, has kept the game ball since 1954.

WAYNE'S 5 of Wellsville has taken over third place in the Toronto Lions Bowling Tournament with a 3,030 score. Village Lanes of Salineville, last week's leader has dropped to eighth. Wayne Elliott of Wellsville has the high men's series so far with a 632.

MATTY ALOU won the batting championship of the Puerto Rican League with a .390 average. Manny Mota, Alou's teammate on the Pirates last season, was second at .367. Manny Jimenez, another 1968 Buc, hit .310. Mota and Jimenez will not be with the Pirates in 1969, as Mota went in the expansion draft and Jimenez was traded. Vic Davalillo, former Indian, hit .339 in the Venezuelan League.

EAST LIVERPOOL is ranked 11th among high school basketball teams in the state in the UPI poll as well as the AP poll. Bellaire St. John's is tied for 31st, Salem is tied for 45th and Warren Western Reserve tied for 48th.

The polls continue to show a remarkable similarity, with Euclid in the Top 10 according to the UPI instead of Canton Lehman according to the AP, the only notable difference.

Locals Seek Revenge

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

In some ways, the East Liverpool High basketball season so far this year has been a preliminary.

But Friday comes the main event, when the Potters host Salem in the new gym.

Ever since last season, when the Potters lost at Salem 35-32, the members of the East Liverpool team have wanted revenge. The loss was the lone one for the Potters in the regular season, snapping an 11-game winning streak, and it cost the Potters outright possession of the Big 8 basketball title.

Salem and East Liverpool shared the league title last year with 5-1 marks.

In addition, Salem is the only county team on the East Liverpool schedule, and through the years has been one of its bitterest rivals.

But while the Potters have the desire to beat Salem this time, and also the talent, the Quakers will be no easy foe. Veteran coach John Cabas has guided his team to a 12-3 record, with a 4-1 mark in Big 8 play. A Potter win would clinch the title for East Liverpool, while a Salem win would clinch them a tie, with a shot for the whole thing if Niles upset East Liverpool next week.

Salem has lost to Dayton Roth 83-63, to Boardman 66-62 and Alliance 64-60 at Alliance. Wins have come over Cardinal Mooney 79-59, Girard 61-29, Canton Timken 56-55, Struthers 60-57, Barberton 70-49, Columbus Walnut Ridge 81-56, Campbell Memorial 84-48, Ravenna 62-42, Wellsville 77-44, Niles 66-47, Warren Harding 57-55 and Warren Western Reserve 71-61.

The Potters have also beaten the two Warren teams and Barberton, as well as Alliance.

The smallest Quaker is the biggest gun. George Spack, only 5-5, is averaging 21 points a game. Scott Cody, 5-7, is the other half of the backcourt. Larry Hrvatin, 6-3, plays center and averages 13 points a game. He had the flu over the weekend but is expected to be ready.

The cornermen are 6-4 Mark Equizi and 6-3 Jim King. Spack, Cody and Equizi all started last year and the others are experienced. Tom Fisher, 6-0, is the top reserve. The Quakers play a man-to-man defense and don't shoot indiscriminately, hence last year's low score.

Starter Bill Montgomery and key sub Tom Chambers suffered mildly sprained ankles in practice Tuesday, but are expected to be ready Friday. Dan Cunningham, who sat out the Alliance game due to a broken nose, is also expected to be ready to go. Jerry Christian, Steve Douglas, John Johnson and Rick Steffen, the other main members of the Potter cast, are ready.

Coach Clint McConnell expects a tough battle from Salem, but is confident the Potters are equal to the task of beating the Quakers.

Kent AD Proposes Buckeye Bowl

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A veteran athletic director has suggested that Ohio State play an Ohio member of the Mid-American Conference in a proposed Buckeye Bowl football game.

The Associated Press learned that the game, proposed by Kent State Athletic Director Carl E. Erickson, would be played the third Saturday in September starting in 1970.

It is designed to allow Ohio State to fill out its schedule with a 10th game. The OSU Athletic Council recently gave its sanction for an expanded schedule, provided it was played as the season opener and away from home.

The proposal is before Mid-American Conference Commissioner Bob James for presentation to Ohio State officials.

Under Erickson's recommendations, the game would be played either at Cleveland Stadium or Cincinnati's new Riverfront Stadium, which is expected to be ready for use in 1970.

The proposal calls for the national champion Buckeyes to meet Miami in the first game at Cincinnati. In 1971, Ohio State would play Bowling Green in Cleveland; 1972—Toledo at Cincinnati; 1973 — Kent State in Cleveland; 1974 — Ohio University in Cincinnati.

The participating teams would split the gate receipts 50-50.

Erickson reportedly told associates that such a contest would have meaning to Ohio fans and give MAC teams exposure and prestige.

"With the right promotion, even a sellout is possible," Erickson has said of his proposal. "This could become a showpiece for Ohio football."

Ohio State officials have contended in the past that they do not play other Ohio schools because their schedules are made up far in advance and a nine-game slate isn't flexible enough to allow intrastate competition.

It has been 35 years since the Buckeyes last played another Ohio school in football. In 1934, they beat Western Reserve 76-0.

Ohio has met Miami twice, in 1904 and 1911, and Ohio University four times, 1899-1902. The Bucks have never engaged Toledo, Bowling Green or Kent State.

Longtime OSU Athletic Director Dick Larkins said he has received no overtures from the Mid-American Conference about a proposed Buckeye Bowl.

"Any request we receive will be studied, analyzed and reviewed by the athletic council. We have no rule against playing a Mid - American Conference school," Larkins said.

Ohio has its football schedules prepared through the 1978 season and recently rejected offers from Tampa and San Diego State to play those institutions at the start of the season.

"The Big Ten has a stiff rule against playing off the campus," Larkins noted. This obviously was in a reference to a proposed bowl game being played in professional stadiums.

"But sometimes conference rules are relaxed on appeal, such as when we were permitted to play a basketball game against Cornell in Cleveland Arena recently," he said.

An innovation of Erickson's recommendation, could it be worked out, is to have the Cleveland Browns or the Cincinnati Bengals play the day after the "Buckeye Bowl" to make it a football weekend for thousands of fans.

Ashland 2, Fairmont 3 As Lamar Tech Takes 1st

By The Associated Press

Lamar Tech has jumped into the No. 1 spot among the nation's small college basketball powers. But the Cardinals from Beaumont, Tex., might have trouble staying there after their first tumble of the season.

Lamar Tech, which ran its unbeaten string to 15 games last week before being toppled by Texas-Arlington Monday night, moved up from fifth place to the top position in The Associated Press weekly poll, which was based on games through last Saturday.

Fairmont, W.Va., No. 1 a week ago, fell to third—behind Ashland, Ohio—after bowing to Morris Harvey for its first setback in 17 games. Ashland, 17-1, moved up one place to No. 2.

The vote was close, the panel of 19 sports writers and broadcasters giving Lamar Tech a total of 259 points, to 251 for Ashland and 246 for Fairmont. Lamar Tech received five first place votes, Ashland and Fairmont three each. Eight other teams got one vote apiece for the top spot.

Following the top three in the balloting were Stephen F. Austin, 18-2, Southwestern, La., 14-4, Kentucky Wesleyan, 15-3, Trinity, Tex., 15-3, Long Beach State, 17-2, South Dakota State 15-2, and Wittenberg, 13-1.

South Carolina State and Alcorn A&M, unbeaten in 15 games apiece through last weekend, were ranked 13th and 20th, respectively.

Ineligibility Ruling At Granville Upheld

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP) — School officials expressed dissatisfaction today over a ruling which reaffirmed that John O'Neill, Granville High School's star basketball player, is ineligible.

"We were extremely disappointed" with Wednesday's decision by the Ohio High School Athletic Association, reported school Supt. John G. Hauck.

O'Neill's ineligibility caused once top-ranked Granville to forfeit its victories and its 14-0 record became 0-14.

Before the ruling the Blue Aces had held the top spot in The Associated Press' Class A high school basketball poll. Now 2-14, Granville still is ranked No. 3.

O'Neill, a junior guard, had been averaging 19 points a game. But it was learned that he returned to Granville High this year after spending his sophomore year at a private school in Massachusettes.

Under a new ruling, any player who transfers into a district must sit out his first year in the school. Granville officials contend this ruling took effect in September, one month after O'Neill reenrolled. The OHSAA Board of Control says the new rule was effective in June.

Hauck said Wednesday's appeal included requests from the six other schools in Granville's league — the Licking County League—as well as the Newark public schools and Newark Catholic that the Board of Control rescind its ruling.

"What made the decision most disappointing," Hauck said, "was that all this information was ignored."

There have been rumors that the board's ruling may be taken to court, either by the Granville schools or by O'Neill's parents. Hauck said only that "this will not be taken into the court by the school."

Ohio U. Edges Toledo In Overtime Contest

John Rudley, one of two black Toledo basketball stars who had threatened to boycott Wednesday night's game at Ohio University, not only played but scored 24 points for the Rockets.

But despite his efforts and those of teammate Steve Mix with 39 points, Toledo couldn't catch up in overtime and Ohio won the Mid-American Conference outing by a hair, 98-95.

Miami walloped Marshall 83-55 in another Mid - Am game. Wittenberg trounced Ohio Wesleyan 64-48, Capital took Marietta 88 - 78 and Wooster edged Oberlin 66-65 in a trio of Ohio Conference games.

Dissention gripped Toledo's team last week after starter Bob Miller, a Negro, was dropped for refusing Coach Bob Nichols' order to attend a class. Rudley and Jim Miller had threatened to boycott the Ohio U. game but both played—Miller for the last 38 seconds.

Meetings between Toledo President William Carlson, Nichols and 18 persons—including six black athletes and two white—were to continue this morning.

Rudley scored two of his baskets in the overtime and Mix four. The Bobcats' Craig Love had tied the game at 83-all with a free throw just before regulation time ended. Gerald McKee was high for OU with 36 points. Ohio upped its MAC record to 6-2 while the Rockets dropped to 3-5.

MAC - leading Miami had no problems disposing of celler-dwelling Marshall. Frank Lukacs led the Miami drive with 21 points. Marshall's Ricky Hall was the only man on his team in double figures. He had 10.

The "Champaign Trio"—three Wittenberg cagers from Champaign County — led the Tigers to victory over Ohio Wesleyan. Larry Baker had 18 points Jim Thrasher 14 and Don Corfman 12. Chip Rosser was the high Bishop with 15.

Oberlin overcame a 43 - 30 halftime deficit to down Wooster; Roger Garrison and Don Kalb combined for 51 of Capital's 88 points in the Crusaders' victory over Marietta; Baldwin-Wallace led all the way behind Bob Harringer's 20 points to take Akron 73-59; John McElroy scored 17 of Youngstown's 22 points in the last 10 minutes as the Penguins edged Steubenville 75-74; Denison coasted on a big halftime lead to shade Hope 81-75 and Bill Polinsky had 24 points and Joe Eaton 21 to lead Walsh to an 87-78 victory over Point Park of Pittsburgh.

Baseball Headquarters May Shift To Chicago

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bowie Kuhn, baseball's brand new commissioner, hasn't even had time to get the feel of his new desk and already there is talk of moving it—and Kuhn with it—out of town.

Phil Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs, suggested Wednesday night that his city should become headquarters for all of baseball.

Wrigley said that he and Walter O'Malley, owner of the Los Angeles Dodgers, have favored a shift to Chicago for eight years. "Somehow, it always was sidetracked."

Arthur Allyn, owner of the Chicago White Sox, commented he was surprised at sudden agreement.

"The two leagues have been feuding so long," said Allyn, "I didn't think we could even agree on the sun rising in the East."

Kuhn hopes that under his leadership, the hatchet can be buried by the National and American Leagues.

"We have to see if we can confine the competition to the World Series, signing of players and publicity, and not carry it over into matters in which the two leagues have a common interest," said Kuhn.

The Wall Street lawyer who was tapped to succeed Gen. William D. Eckert, is a virtual unknown outside of baseball's inner cricles but he is not concerned about his anonymity.

"It is far more important that Dennis McLain and Bob Gibson be household words than Bowie Kuhn. The players and the way the game is played are the most important things," said Kuhn.

Kuhn's first and most pressing problem seems to be not how but if the game will be played this spring in the face of a threatened player strike over pension funds.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association, congratuled the new commissioner on his election.

"We congratulate Mr. Kuhn and wish him well in his new duties and renew to him our offer to play a constructive role in efforts to modernize baseball's structure," Miller said. "We trust for the good of all, that he will bring to his office the new vitality and imagination which is so clearly needed."

Kuhn, longtime ccounsel for the National League and member of the owners' Player Relation Committee, will step out of the pension negotiations now underway.

"The Commissioner does have the power to offer himself as a mediator," Kuhn said. "That is up to the parties involved. I think there is a disposition to reach a reasonable settlement on both sides. The players and owners want one.

Kuhn said he favored experiments with changes in the playing rules dealing with pinch hitters and pinch runners.

"I am not one of those who think we should monkey with the basic fundamentals," he said. "Three strikes, four balls, three outs and nine innings are here to stay. But I think we should look at a lot of possibilities."

Kuhn said he thinks he has as much power as Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball's first commissioner.

"The power exists to take action when necessary in the best interest of baseball," he said. "It is a broad power, but the real power of a commissioner is his ability to lead. I hope to move baseball by leadership based on a diligent study of the game."

Lombardi Released From Packer Pact

By BOB GREENE
Associated Press Sports Writer

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers sent Vince Lombardi to Washington Wednesday night, with regret, and without animosity.

By unanimous vote, the 45-member Board of Directors of the National Football League club ended debate, and voted to accept Lombardi's resignation as general manager, releasing him from a contract that had five years remaining.

Lombardi joins the Washington Redskins as head coach, executive vice president and part owner. The Packers said they decided against demanding compensation from Washington for the loss of the man who had built their small-town team into a profitable terror of the gridiron.

Green Bay's executive committee advised Wednesday's emergency session of directors that, after his decade of contribution, it would seem unfair to block his desire for ownership in a pro club, something Lombardi couldn't have achieved under Green Bay's non-profit stock system.

Lombardi had said a return to coaching and ownership of a club were the chief appeals in the Washington package.

In his letter of resignation to the board, Lombardi told directors he had not been dissatisfied with his Green Bay income, but that he could no longer think of himself in terms of being a Packer coach again.

"There has never been a question of remuneration," his letter said. "After making a decision a year ago not to coach, I think you all can well understand the impossibility of my returning to the field in Green Bay. It would be totally unfair to coaches and players alike."

Lombardi, who had led Green Bay to five NFL titles in his nine years as coach and 10 as general manager, often expressed a hope of gaining ownership in a club. The Packers are a community-owned corporation in which no one is allowed to own more than a token number of shares.

In Washington, there were reports he was offered $1 million in Redskins stock at half price. Redskins officials declined Wednesday to comment on reports that Lombardi would also be paid up to $110,000 annually under a pact running five or more years.

"Lombardi has served us well, far and above the call of duty, and we felt it would be a dog-in-the-manger attitude if we were to stand in his way to obtaining a very profitable and substantial interest in the Washington ball club," he told directors.

Olejniczak said directors decided not to ask Washington to compensate the Packers for Lombardi. But he said there was much discussion of reimbursement.

"It is difficult to measure true value of compensation," the Packer president said. "If someone had offered me 15 players from any one club for Mr. Lombardi, I would have turned them down."

"If someone had offered me $1 million, I would have turned them down. I would not cheapen this deal by measuring him in money or a couple of players," he said.

"We will always be indebted to Vince Lombardi," he added. "Whatever we have done for him, he certainly was deserving of it, if not more."

Kent AD Proposes Buckeye Bowl

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A veteran athletic director has suggested that Ohio State play an Ohio member of the Mid-American Conference in a proposed Buckeye Bowl football game.

The Associated Press learned that the game, proposed by Kent State Athletic Director Carl E. Erickson, would be played the third Saturday in September starting in 1970.

It is designed to allow Ohio State to fill out its schedule with a 10th game. The OSU Athletic Council recently gave its sanction for an expanded schedule, provided it was played as the season opener and away from home.

The proposal is before Mid-American Conference Commissioner Bob James for presentation to Ohio State officials.

Under Erickson's recommendations, the game would be played either at Cleveland Stadium or Cincinnati's new Riverfront Stadium, which is expected to be ready for use in 1970.

The proposal calls for the national champion Buckeyes to meet Miami in the first game at Cincinnati. In 1971, Ohio State would play Bowling Green in Cleveland; 1972—Toledo at Cincinnati; 1973 — Kent State in Cleveland; 1974 — Ohio University in Cincinnati.

The participating teams would split the gate receipts 50-50.

Erickson reportedly told associates that such a contest would have meaning to Ohio fans and give MAC teams exposure and prestige.

"With the right promotion, even a sellout is possible," Erickson has said of his proposal. "This could become a showpiece for Ohio football."

Ohio State officials have contended in the past that they do not play other Ohio schools because their schedules are made up far in advance and a nine-game slate isn't flexible enough to allow intrastate competition.

It has been 35 years since the Buckeyes last played another Ohio school in football. In 1934, they beat Western Reserve 76-0.

Ohio has met Miami twice, in 1904 and 1911, and Ohio University four times, 1899-1902. The Bucks have never engaged Toledo, Bowling Green or Kent State.

Longtime OSU Athletic Director Dick Larkins said he has received no overtures from the Mid-American Conference about a proposed Buckeye Bowl.

"Any request we receive will be studied, analyzed and reviewed by the athletic council. We have no rule against playing a Mid - American Conference school," Larkins said.

Ohio has its football schedules prepared through the 1978 season and recently rejected offers from Tampa and San Diego State to play those institutions at the start of the season.

"The Big Ten has a stiff rule against playing off the campus," Larkins noted. This obviously was in a reference to a proposed bowl game being played in professional stadiums.

"But sometimes conference rules are relaxed on appeal, such as when we were permitted to play a basketball game against Cornell in Cleveland Arena recently," he said.

An innovation of Erickson's recommendation, could it be worked out, is to have the Cleveland Browns or the Cincinnati Bengals play the day after the "Buckeye Bowl" to make it a football weekend for thousands of fans.

Ohio U. Edges Toledo In Overtime Contest

John Rudley, one of two black Toledo basketball stars who had threatened to boycott Wednesday night's game at Ohio University, not only played but scored 24 points for the Rockets.

But despite his efforts and those of teammate Steve Mix with 39 points, Toledo couldn't catch up in overtime and Ohio won the Mid-American Conference outing by a hair, 98-95.

Miami walloped Marshall 83-55 in another Mid - Am game. Wittenberg trounced Ohio Wesleyan 64-48, Capital took Marietta 88 - 78 and Wooster edged Oberlin 66-65 in a trio of Ohio Conference games.

Dissention gripped Toledo's team last week after starter Bob Miller, a Negro, was dropped for refusing Coach Bob Nichols' order to attend a class. Rudley and Jim Miller had threatened to boycott the Ohio U. game but both played—Miller for the last 38 seconds.

Meetings between Toledo President William Carlson, Nichols and 18 persons—including six black athletes and two white—were to continue this morning.

Rudley scored two of his baskets in the overtime and Mix four. The Bobcats' Craig Love had tied the game at 83-all with a free throw just before regulation time ended. Gerald McKee was high for OU with 36 points. Ohio upped its MAC record to 6-2 while the Rockets dropped to 3-5.

MAC - leading Miami had no problems disposing of cellar-dwelling Marshall. Frank Lukacs led the Miami drive with 21 points. Marshall's Ricky Hall was the only man on his team in double figures. He had 10.

The "Champaign Trio"—three Wittenberg cagers from Champaign County — led the Tigers to victory over Ohio Wesleyan. Larry Baker had 18 points Jim Thrasher 14 and Don Corfman 12. Chip Rosser was the high Bishop with 15.

Oberlin overcame a 43 - 30 halftime deficit to down Wooster; Roger Garrison and Don Kalb combined for 51 of Capital's 88 points in the Crusaders' victory over Marietta; Baldwin-Wallace led all the way behind Bob Harringer's 20 points to take Akron 73-59; John McElroy scored 17 of Youngstown's 22 points in the last 10 minutes as the Penguins edged Steubenville 75-74; Denison coasted on a big halftime lead to shade Hope 81-75 and Bill Polinsky had 24 points and Joe Eaton 21 to lead Walsh to an 87-78 victory over Point Park of Pittsburgh.

Baseball Headquarters May Shift To Chicago

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bowie Kuhn, baseball's brand new commissioner, hasn't even had time to get the feel of his new desk and already there is talk of moving it—and Kuhn with it—out of town.

Phil Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs, suggested Wednesday night that his city should become headquarters for all of baseball.

Wrigley said that he and Walter O'Malley, owner of the Los Angeles Dodgers, have favored a shift to Chicago for eight years. "Somehow, it always was sidetracked."

Arthur Allyn, owner of the Chicago White Sox, commented he was surprised at sudden agreement.

"The two leagues have been feuding so long," said Allyn, "I didn't think we could even agree on the sun rising in the East."

Kuhn hopes that under his leadership, the hatchet can be buried by the National and American Leagues.

"We have to see if we can confine the competition to the World Series, signing of players and publicity, and not carry it over into matters in which the two leagues have a common interest," said Kuhn.

The Wall Street lawyer who was tapped to succeed Gen. William D. Eckert, is a virtual unknown outside of baseball's inner cricles but he is not concerned about his anonymity.

"It is far more important that Dennis McLain and Bob Gibson be household words than Bowie Kuhn. The players and the way the game is played are the most important things," said Kuhn.

Kuhn's first and most pressing problem seems to be not how but if the game will be played this spring in the face of a threatened player strike over pension funds.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association, congratuled the new commissioner on his election.

"We congratulate Mr. Kuhn and wish him well in his new duties and renew to him our offer to play a constructive role in efforts to modernize baseball's structure," Miller said. "We trust for the good of all, that he will bring to his office the new vitality and imagination which is so clearly needed."

Kuhn, longtime ccounsel for the National League and member of the owners' Player Relation Committee, will step out of the pension negotiations now underway.

"The Commissioner does have the power to offer himself as a mediator," Kuhn said. "That is up to the parties involved. I think there is a disposition to reach a reasonable settlement on both sides. The players and owners want one.

Kuhn said he favored experiments with changes in the playing rules dealing with pinch hitters and pinch runners.

"I am not one of those who think we should monkey with the basic fundamentals," he said. "Three strikes, four balls, three outs and nine innings are here to stay. But I think we should look at a lot of possibilities."

Kuhn said he thinks he has as much power as Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball's first commissioner.

"The power exists to take action when necessary in the best interest of baseball," he said. "It is a broad power, but the real power of a commissioner is his ability to lead. I hope to move baseball by leadership based on a diligent study of the game."

Lombardi Released From Packer Pact

By BOB GREENE
Associated Press Sports Writer

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The Green Bay Packers sent Vince Lombardi to Washington Wednesday night, with regret, and without animosity.

By unanimous vote, the 45-member Board of Directors of the National Football League club ended debate, and voted to accept Lombardi's resignation as general manager, releasing him from a contract that had five years remaining.

Lombardi joins the Washington Redskins as head coach, executive vice president and part owner. The Packers said they decided against demanding compensation from Washington for the loss of the man who had built their small-town team into a profitable terror of the gridiron.

Green Bay's executive committee advised Wednesday's emergency session of directors that, after his decade of contribution, it would seem unfair to block his desire for ownership in a pro club, something Lombardi couldn't have achieved under Green Bay's non-profit stock system.

Lombardi had said a return to coaching and ownership of a club were the chief appeals in the Washington package.

In his letter of resignation to the board, Lombardi told directors he had not been dissatisfied with his Green Bay income, but that he could no longer think of himself in terms of being a Packer coach again.

"There has never been a question of remuneration," his letter said. "After making a decision a year ago not to coach, I think you all can well understand the impossibility of my returning to the field in Green Bay. It would be totally unfair to coaches and players alike."

Lombardi, who had led Green Bay to five NFL titles in his nine years as coach and 10 as general manager, often expressed a hope of gaining ownership in a club. The Packers are a community-owned corporation in which no one is allowed to own more than a token number of shares.

In Washington, there were reports he was offered $1 million in Redskins stock at half price. Redskins officials declined Wednesday to comment on reports that Lombardi would also be paid up to $110,000 annually under a pact running five or more years.

"Lombardi has served us well, far and above the call of duty, and we felt it would be a dog-in-the-manger attitude if we were to stand in his way to obtaining a very profitable and substantial interest in the Washington ball club," he told directors.

Olejniczak said directors decided not to ask Washington to compensate the Packers for Lombardi. But he said there was much discussion of reimbursement.

"It is difficult to measure true value of compensation," the Packer president said. "If someone had offered me 15 players from any one club for Mr. Lombardi, I would have turned them down."

"If someone had offered me $1 million, I would have turned them down. I would not cheapen this deal by measuring him in money or a couple of players," he said.

"We will always be indebted to Vince Lombardi," he added. "Whatever we have done for him, he certainly was deserving of it, if not more."

In Small College Poll

Ashland 2, Fairmont 3 As Lamar Tech Takes 1st

By The Associated Press

Lamar Tech has jumped into the No. 1 spot among the nation's small college basketball powers. But the Cardinals from Beaumont, Tex., might have trouble staying there after their first tumble of the season.

Lamar Tech, which ran its unbeaten string to 15 games last week before being toppled by Texas-Arlington Monday night, moved up from fifth place to the top position in The Associated Press weekly poll, which was based on games through last Saturday.

Fairmont, W.Va., No. 1 a week ago, fell to third—behind Ashland, Ohio—after bowing to Morris Harvey for its first setback in 17 games. Ashland, 17-1, moved up one place to No. 2.

The vote was close, the panel of 19 sports writers and broadcasters giving Lamar Tech a total of 259 points, to 251 for Ashland and 246 for Fairmont. Lamar Tech received five first place votes, Ashland and Fairmont three each. Eight other teams got one vote apiece for the top spot.

Following the top three in the balloting were Stephen F. Austin, 18-2, Southwestern, La., 14-4, Kentucky Wesleyan, 15-3, Trinity, Tex., 15-3, Long Beach State, 17-2, South Dakota State 15-2, and Wittenberg, 13-1.

South Carolina State and Alcorn A&M, unbeaten in 15 games apiece through last weekend, were ranked 13th and 20th, respectively.

The top 20, with first place votes, season records through games of Saturday, Feb. 1, and total points;

1.	Lamar Tech (5)	15-0	259

Ineligibility Ruling At Granville Upheld

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP) — School officials expressed dissatisfaction today over a ruling which reaffirmed that John O'Neill, Granville High School's star basketball player, is ineligible.

"We were extremely disappointed" with Wednesday's decision by the Ohio High School Athletic Association, reported school Supt. John G. Hauck.

O'Neill's ineligibility caused once top-ranked Granville to forfeit its victories and its 14-0 record became 0-14.

Before the ruling the Blue Aces had held the top spot in The Associated Press' Class A high school basketball poll. Now 2-14, Granville still is ranked No. 3.

O'Neill, a junior guard, had been averaging 19 points a game. But it was learned that he returned to Granville High this year after spending his sophomore year at a private school in Massachusettes.

Under a new ruling, any player who transfers into a district must sit out his first year in the school. Granville officials contend this ruling took effect in September, one month after O'Neill reenrolled. The OHSAA Board of Control says the new rule was effective in June.

Hauck said Wednesday's appeal included requests from the six other schools in Granville's league — the Licking County League—as well as the Newark public schools and Newark Catholic that the Board of Control rescind its ruling.

"What made the decision most disappointing," Hauck said, "was that all this information was ignored."

There have been rumors that the board's ruling may be taken to court, either by the Granville schools or by O'Neill's parents. Hauck said only that "this will not be taken into the court by the school."

Attorneys Quiz Alternate Jurors In Sirhan Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In willful, deliberate, premeditated murder, would you favor the death penalty or life imprisonment? Would you be influenced by Sirhan Bishara Sirhan's youth? By compassion for his mother?

With such questions, attorneys continue examining prospective alternate jurors at the trial of Sirhan, 24, a Jordanian charged with murdering Sen. Robert F. Kennedy with gunfire last June.

The alternates will occupy chairs flanking the eight-man, four-woman jury sworn in Wednesday. They'll hear evidence along with the jury. An alternate will replace a regular juror only in an emergency--illness, say, or a death in the family—that forces him to leave the trial.

Four alternates were tentatively accepted by prosecution and defense after the jury was sworn in Wednesday.

Needle Pattern

By LAURA WHEELER

Togetherness is fun — especially when grandma or mom and daughter embroider these! Rick-rack is just the right, bright touch to accent this quickie embroidery to decorate kitchen towels. Pattern 589: transfer 6 motifs.

Send 50 cents in coin for this pattern to Needlecraft in care of the East Liverpool Review, 45 Pattern, P. O. Box 161, Old Chelsea Station, New York 11, N. Y. Print plainly your name, address and the pattern number.

Attorneys Quiz Alternate Jurors In Sirhan Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In willful, deliberate, premeditated murder, would you favor the death penalty or life imprisonment? Would you be influenced by Sirhan Bishara Sirhan's youth? By compassion for his mother?

With such questions, attorneys continue examining prospective alternate jurors at the trial of Sirhan, 24, a Jordanian charged with murdering Sen. Robert F. Kennedy with gunfire last June.

The alternates will occupy chairs flanking the eight-man, four-woman jury sworn in Wednesday. They'll hear evidence along with the jury. An alternate will replace a regular juror only in an emergency—illness, say, or a death in the family—that forces him to leave the trial.

Four alternates were tentatively accepted by prosecution and defense after the jury was sworn in Wednesday.

The Spanish Protestant version of the Bible, printed at Basle in 1969 is called the "Bear Bible" because the woodcut device on the title page is a bear.

Junior Editors Quiz on COMPOSERS

QUESTION: Did Bach, Beethoven and Mozart ever get paid for their work?

ANSWER: Musicians may be either performers or composers of their own work. Performers, playing music written by others, are generally well paid. Composers take the chance that people may not understand their music while they are still alive. The last situation happened to Bach, Mozart and Beethoven, all of whom wrote music now generally regarded as being at the summit. None was paid adequately during his lifetime. A boy genius, Mozart had poor health and died at 35 in poverty. Johann Sebastian Bach managed to make a living for his large family of 20 children by two different wives. But it was not until 100 years later that it was realized this man was one of the greatest artists who ever lived. Beethoven became famous as both performer and composer, but his career was blighted by almost total deafness. But if none of these three received reasonable money returns, all three had a greater satisfaction. They wrote outstanding musical masterpieces and they knew it. They mastered the blows of fate by joy in the work itself.

(Krista Birardi of Auburn, N.Y. wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)
